COMING OF BURNS IS ASSURED, SAYS COLONEL FELDER

To Solve Phagan Murder, Joseph Hirsch, Capitalist, Starts Public Subscription to Assure Fund for Burns.

SOCIETY WOMEN AID MOVEMENT FOR FUND

Local Detectives in Conference and Are Believed to Have Secret Documents Bearing on Case.

With The Constitution's donation of $100 as a nucleus, Atlanta today begins building a fund with which to employ to ferret the mystery of Mary Phagan's murder Detective William J. Burns, America's most successful detective.

Assurance that subscriptions will be plentiful and generous came to Attorney Thomas B. Felder last night in telephone messages from numerous public-spirited business men, who informed him that they would send checks this morning for their share of the fund.

One of these was Joseph Hirsch, a leading capitalist and financier, who told Colonel Felder that he wanted to see Atlanta take such means to solve the baffling mystery as to employ the detective by public subscription.

"I have infinite confidence in Mr. Burns' ability," he said. "I am assured that he will clear the murder and apprehend the murderer. I will send a check Friday morning for my share of the amount necessary to procure him."

Burns' Coming Sure.

Mr. Felder stated last night that Burns' trip to Atlanta was guaranteed. He will arrive in New York on June 1, and will come immediately to the south. The headquarters of his agency already have dispatched an expert criminal investigator to precede him to this city and to take up the murder investigation before the case grows cold.

The expert left New York Thursday. He will arrive in Atlanta some time today, and will begin work right away. His chief object will be to blaze a trail for his superior and to prepare the investigation for Burns to take hold.

Besides Mr. Hirsch, six other prominent business men telephoned Colonel Felder Thursday night to assure him of their co-operation in obtaining Detective Burns. The attorney would not divulge the names, because of the expressed desire to withhold their identity. Neither would he give the names of the five women who are conspicuous figures in Atlanta's social world, and who are playing prominent parts in the campaign to raise the Burns fund.

Society Women Aid.

This quintet of society representatives, says Mr. Felder, are the source of the idea to raise the Burns fund through public subscription. When it was made known that Colonel Felder was endeavoring to employ the noted sleuth, he was visited by the five women, who suggested that, if the money could not be raised otherwise, public subscriptions be solicited.

It will require three weeks or a month for Burns to complete his investigation, Colonel Felder is informed by Raymond Burns, the detective's son

NO WARLIKE MOVES BY UNITED STATES TO STIR JAPANESE

President Wilson to Keep the Army and Navy Quiet While Negotiations About California Are in Progress.

JAPAN IS RESOLVED ON FURTHER PROTEST

Wilson Hopes That Satisfactory Settlement of Question Can Be Secured—Reply to Japan Being Framed.

Washington, May 15.—President Wilson has determined that no warships or troops shall be moved or anything resembling a military or naval demonstration carried on by the United States while diplomatic negotiations with Japan over the California alien land legislation are in progress, so that no alarming interpretation can be placed on even the ordinary maneuvers of the army and navy.

This decision of the president was announced at the white house tonight. It answered a report current in official circles late in the day that precautionary movements by the army and navy were contemplated, and had been destroyed at a conference between the president, Secretary Daniels, of the navy department; Secretary Garrison, of the war department, and Acting Secretary Moore, of the state department. Mr. Moore went to the white house, it was explained, to discuss the framing of a reply to the recent Japanese protest against the California land legislation, while the war and navy secretaries called to discuss routine affairs of their departments.

Early Settlement Expected.

White House officials said there had been no change in the diplomatic phases of the Japanese question, and that the situation was promising of an early settlement. It was emphatically denied that army or navy maneuvers or movements of any kind not included in ordinary plans, arranged months in advance of execution, had been contemplated at any time.

The rumor which called forth the white house statement probably began its rounds earlier in the day, when the war department made public orders that three officers and two companies of coast artillery to sail from San Francisco for Honolulu about May 24. These orders, it was explained, were in conformity with the program for the creation of a permanent and sufficient garrison in Hawaii, outlined in the last annual report of the secretary of war, and merely carried out plans of long standing. They relieved Colonel William C. Rafferty, coast artillery corps, of the command of the coast defenses of the Potomac and of the post of Fort Washington, to sail for Honolulu with the One Hundred and Eighteenth and One Hundred and Forty-third companies of coast artillery; assigned Captain George L. Hicks, Jr., to accompany Colonel Rafferty as a member of his staff, and directed Major Frank W. Coe, new personnel officer, north Atlantic coast artillery, to sail on the same steamer.

Further Protest by Japan.

Further representations from the Japanese government in support of its protest against the California land legislation were forecast today when Viscount Chinda, after being informally notified of Governor Johnson's intention to sign the land bill, called twice at the state department to inquire when the governor probably would act.

After the ambassador's first visit, Acting Secretary Moore went to the white house and spent half an hour

Constitution Starts Fund to Bring Burns Here To Solve the Mary Phagan Murder Mystery

By all means employ William J. Burns to solve the Mary Phagan murder mystery!

It will cost several thousand dollars to get the world-famous detective to come to Atlanta, and The Constitution herewith starts the subscription with $100.

As soon as Homer George, manager of the Atlanta theater, learned of the subscription he subscribed $10.

Never in the history of Atlanta has there been such an insistent demand that a murderer or murderers be apprehended. For days and weeks the Phagan murder has been the sole topic of conversation.

Now that the subscription has been actually started hundreds will doubtless be glad to help swell the fund.

The Constitution will gladly acknowledge all subscriptions and turn them over to Colonel Thomas B. Felder, who has been retained by the citizens of Bellwood and vicinity to aid in the prosecution of the murderer of the little girl whose lifeless body was found in the basement of the National Pencil factory over three weeks ago.

The people of Atlanta are far from satisfied that the Phagan murder mystery has been cleared up. They feel that the guilt of the murderer should be fixed beyond all fear of disproval.

The mystery is one that has baffled the best detectives in the city. To solve it a master mind like that of William J. Burns is needed. If he should fail—and he has never failed in the solution of a case he has undertaken—the public will be satisfied that the perpetrator of the crime will never be known.

Scarcely had Colonel Felder's request for a public subscription been made public than Joseph Hirsch, former alderman, for years chairman of the Grady Hospital board and former member of the board of education, communicated with Colonel Felder and informed him that he would contribute a substantial amount to the fund. Other prominent citizens likewise made known their intention of contributing. Colonel Felder will contribute his fee toward paying for the services of the world-famous detective.

There would seem to be little doubt that Burns will come to Atlanta. Your subscription will aid in the assurance.

ALL STATE CONSTABLES DISCHARGED BY BLEASE

Governor's Action Provoked by Supreme Court Decision in Regard to Webb Law.

Anderson, S. C., May 15.—All state constables of South Carolina were dismissed from office today by Governor Cole Blease. The governor, who is here attending the state grand lodge of Odd Fellows, said that he had taken this action as the result of the state supreme court's decision yesterday with reference to the Webb liquor law, to the effect that liquor may be shipped into South Carolina when for personal use. Governor Blease said tonight that under this decision the constables cannot tell which shipments are destined for illegal use, and that they are, therefore, useless.

Governor Blease, in dismissing the more than one hundred constables, said: "It is disheartening, this decision of the court. I am helpless now to enforce the liquor laws. Blind tigers are taking the state, and there will be more of them under this decision. It will be impossible to tell which is personal whisky and which is for illegal purposes. Therefore the whisky constables are useless."

BOND ISSUE PROPOSED TO CONSTRUCT LEVEES

Greenville, Miss., May 15.—Governor Earl Brewer, who was in Greenville today, announced that the Mississippi legislature would be convened in extraordinary session June 10 to consider the necessity of issuing bonds of a million dollars or more, the fund to be devoted to levee construction along the Mississippi river. The governor was urged to call the extra session by the members of the Mississippi levee commission, and planters of the delta section of Mississippi, a portion of which was overflowed during the recent Mississippi river flood.

CRIES OF "NO, NO," BY THE BAPTISTS SILENCE SPEAKER

Missionary's Plea for Baptists to Join in Building Interdenominational Mission Schools Causes Storm.

St. Louis, Mo., May 15.—When A. Y. Napier, Baptist missionary from China, in an address before the Southern Baptist convention on how to make foreign missionary work more effective, said it was desirable that the Baptists join the other protestant sects in building up interdenominational mission schools, there were cries of "No, no" and "Sit down" from all over the audience.

Finding it impossible to continue his address, he took his seat.

Special attention was given to the subject of missionary work among the negroes of the southern states and it was decided to build and equip a theological seminary for the education of negro Baptist preachers. This school will be located in Louisville, where the Southern Baptist Theological seminary, under the principalship of Rev. Dr. E. Y. Mullins, is located, and Dr. Mullins will have the supervision of the work of the new school.

Educating Negro Preachers.

The subject of educating negro preachers was introduced by Dr. Mullins, who read a resolution providing for a committee to supervise the preliminaries. The resolution was adopted unanimously.

The committee appointed was E. Y. Mullins, Louisville, chairman; A. L. Halley, Corsicana, Texas; A. J. Barton, Waco, Texas; Benjamin Cox, Memphis; E. M. Atkins, Little Rock.

PLAYING INSURGENTS, LAD SHOOTS BROTHER

Eight-Year-Old Son of T. A. Boone Killed by Brother's Rifle Ball.

While playing "soldier" with his two brothers, Allen Hartman and Powell Boone, aged 13 and 10 years, respectively, Richard Irwin Boone, the 8-year-old son of T. A. Boone, newspaper man, of 25 Stewart avenue, was shot through the jugular vein with a Flobert rifle and almost instantly killed at about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The tragedy occurred in the back yard of the family residence. The boys had their rifle and were pretending to be "insurrectos."

Allen Hartman Boone had the weapon in his hands when Richard grappled with him in childish play. Just how the rest happened no one will ever know. Suddenly there came the report of the rifle, and the little boy fell.

The bullet had barely grazed his neck, but it severed the jugular vein, and he bled to death before aid could be brought.

Coroner Donehoo hurried to the scene. After an investigation, he said that it was clearly an accident, and that he would hold no inquest.

The body was removed to Greenberg & Bond's undertaking establishment, where it will be held until funeral arrangements are made.

SMALLER COMMISSION URGED FOR WARE CO.

Waycross, Ga., May 15.—(Special.)—Following considerable agitation, the grand jury today recommended that Ware representatives pass at this session of the legislature a bill amending the act creating the county commissioners reducing the number to five, two from Waycross and three from the county. There will be strong opposition to this action and Waycross taxpayers will urge an amendment enlarging the board to seven, four of whom shall be from the Waycross district.

WILSON TO STAND NO COMPROMISES ABOUT THE TARIFF

President Comes Out Strongly for Free Wool and Free Sugar Clauses of the Underwood Measure.

DEMOCRATS OF SENATE MUST REDEEM PLEDGES

Rumored Concessions Caused the President to Declare He Expected Pledges of Party Platform to Be Kept.

Washington, May 15.—President Wilson came out strongly today as the champion of free wool and free sugar-in-three-years as provided for in the tariff bill recently passed by the house. He announced emphatically that he was not considering compromises of any sort; that he stood squarely behind the measure as it passed the house and that he regarded it as the duty of the democratic majority in the senate to fulfill its platform pledge by enacting the house bill into law.

"I am not the kind," said the president, "that could ask compromises when I once take my position. I have taken my stand with the house leaders for the present bill. Enough said. I am not looking for or accepting compromises."

The president's utterance was made to a half-hundred newspaper correspondents who gathered as usual today at the white house for the semi-weekly conference. Practically at the same time the senate was engaged in protracted debate, at the end of which tonight an agreement was reached to vote tomorrow on the question of public hearings on the tariff bill. While the president smilingly let it be known that he was expressing no opinion whatsoever on the proposal for hearings and that this was a subject for the senate to dispose of, his statement of unqualified support for the house bill was taken generally to mean that Mr. Wilson considered arguments from special interests on the tariff schedules to have

By electing a "dark horse" to the moderatorship of the largest body of Presbyterians in the world, selecting a man who had never been before mentioned in connection with the race, and who arose in embarrassment and begged that his name be withdrawn, the U. S. A. Presbyterian assembly yesterday afternoon put the stamp of its disapproval on the system of "ecclesiastical politics" that has prevailed at its assemblies of past years.

Dr. John Timothy Stone, leader of the delegation who came to capture the 1914 assembly for Chicago, was the man unexpectedly exalted to the highest office of the assembly. The candidacy of no less than half a dozen eminent men in Presbyterianism had been actively waged during the past few weeks, and on the day of the election approached the race was believed to lie between Dr. Maitland Alexander, the "millionaire pastor," of Pittsburg, and Dr. Samuel S. Palmer, of Columbus, Ohio.

Not until the ballots of four avowed candidates had been presented was the nomination of Dr. Stone made, and it struck the assembly at the "psychological moment" when it realized as it had never done before the worldly character and material influence that the system of a political election appeared to be having upon the assembly.

The first man nominated was Dr. Alexander, his name being laid before the body in a speech of exquisite charm and diplomacy by Dr. John Willis Baer, president of Occident college, San Francisco, Cal. He was followed by Dr. David R. Moore, of Cincinnati, Ohio, who nominated Dr. William McKibbin, president of Lane Theological seminary, at Cincinnati, and one of the leading Presbyterians of Ohio.

Dr. Arthur F. Bishop, of Austin, Texas, in a speech that was a gem of oratory, then nominated Dr. Howard Agnew Johnson, of Stamford, Conn.

"We are meeting today in the home town of Henry W. Grady, the idol of the south, the man who first pleaded for the abolition of sectional lines between the north and the south," said Dr. Bishop in the course of his address. "What a wonderful prophetic vision was embodied in the cherished words of Grady! And how appropriate it is that this great joint gathering of Presbyterians, one of the most eminent steps toward the fulfilment of that prophecy, should be held in Grady's home!"

Many Gems of Oratory.

Dr. William C. Covert, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Chicago, then followed with the nomination of Dr. S. S. Palmer, whom hundreds believe was destined for the moderatorship. As in his address and the speeches which seconded the various nominations oratory abounded. Dr. Covert spoke of his nominee as one of the greatest evangelistic ministers of the country, which was applauded warmly by many of the commissioners.

When Dr. William R. King, of Monmouth, Ill., then obtained the floor and spoke of an unheralded nomination he had to make the expectation of the assembly was keyed up to a high pitch while he spoke of the necessity of "the office seeking the man, and seeking such a man as John Timothy Stone, of Chicago." The entire audience of nearly 2,000 people took the nomination with a storm of enthusiasm, and when Dr. Stone arose and prayed that he be excused a vote was called for and his withdrawal overwhelmingly turned down.

Two Ballots Necessary.

After this sensation the audience settled down for half an hour while the five seconding speeches were made, preliminary to the election. Dr. Griffin W. Bull, of Scranton, Pa., seconded Alexander's nomination. Dr. W. L. Darby, of Clarksville, Ark., seconded McKibben. Dr. William M. Tufts, of Boston, indorsed Johnson. Dr. Paul R. Hickok, of Washington, D. C., extolled Palmer.

Then William T. Ellis, of Swarthmore, Pa., in a rousing speech seconding Stone's nomination, appealed to the assembly to break away from "ecclesiastical politics" and return to the simple method of choosing the moderators without campaigns—not as a reproof to the present candidates, he said, but as putting an end to the "system" which had made necessary their candidacies.

Taking the vote of the entire body of 856 commissioners, by the convenient method of having the house divided into balloting sections, the assembly counted the votes in short order and found that the necessary majority had not been won by any candidate. The vote stood: Alexander, 277; Stone, 314; Palmer, 136; Johnston, 65, and McKibben, 4.

Two Candidates Withdraw.

Dr. Johnston and Dr. McKibben then withdrew their names and another ballot was taken by the entire body of commissioners, which resulted in a landslide for Dr. Stone, who received 532 votes. Dr. Alexander then, with splendid spirit, arose and moved that the nomination be unanimous, which was seconded by the other losing candidate, Dr. Palmer, and carried enthusiastically.

When Dr. Stone was then ushered to the stage by the two defeated candidates the fact of his unpreparedness was emphasized, for he appeared in a light traveling suit, while everyone else on the platform was in the full ministerial costume of black. After a few words of welcome and earnest advice by Dr. Mark A. Matthews, the retiring moderator, Dr. Stone was then handed the gavel and became the moderator of the U. S. A. assembly.

Nothing else was accomplished in the entire afternoon's session except the election and the roll call of the commissioners, which took place immediately upon convening at 2:30 o'clock.

Dr. Matthews Delivers Sermon.

The feature of the morning's session was the strong sermon delivered by Dr. Mark A. Matthews, retiring moderator, who spoke of the church's great need of a more Godward faith, and also touched on the possibility of an ultimate union between the Presbyterian organizations, saying it must not be mechanical, but growing out of conviction.

When the organ in the Baptist Tabernacle opened the session Thursday morning the U. S. A. assembly had the greatest attendance of its history. It was a pentecostal scene, as Indians, white men, Japanese, Chinese, Magyals, negroes and representatives of various tribes and nationalities sat side by side. There was a large sprinkling of women, mostly dressed in blue, but the small hats of the season did not "provoke the men to wrath." Dr. Wallace Radcliffe, pastor of "the president's church" in Washington, prayed fervently at the opening of the session.

There was absolute silence when Dr. Matthews, the "tall cedar of the Sierras," arose before the assembly to his full height of 6 feet 7 and began his annual sermon as retiring moderator.

"Organic Union Through Faith."

"By faith thrust into Christ we could bring about organic union of all the branches of the Presbyterian church in America," declared retiring moderator Mark A. Matthews, of Seattle, in his sermon yesterday at the opening session of the Northern Presbyterian church general assembly.

The text of Dr. Matthews' sermon was "The Victories of Faith Against the Failures of Unbelief."

"By the exercise of Godward faith," he continued, "the organic union would be the product of conviction. I am not in favor of the organic union of all the branches of Presbyterianism in this country if brought about as the result of conviction. The only thing that keeps us apart is the paralyzing influence of unbelief.

"By faith the church could disarm the world. The disarmament of nations is the duty of the church. By faith and the work thereof the church could free America from the accursed liquor traffic. The church will some day exercise her power, and when she does—long in twenty-five years from that day America will be free from the saloon."

Reject "Unbelieving" Pastors.

After an exposition on the supernatural powers of the church as against the material, Dr. Matthews declared that "we should change the ground of our objections to candidates for the ministry who doubt or deny the deity of Christ. They ought to be rejected not alone because they doubt or deny the deity of Christ, but because their denial is prima facie evidence that they have never been regenerated. No unregenerated man should be permitted to preach."

In conclusion Dr. Matthews predicted that "Christians soon will return to the fundamental principles, the cardinal doctrines and the use of their supernatural equipment. Then the holy Sunday as God's decreed day of rest will be restored to man and by him kept holy. The church's greatest need today is faith, prayer, Godly living, daily giving, powerful preaching and the exercise of supernatural power, the result of Godward faith thrust into Christ."

ASSEMBLIES BEGIN HARD WORK TODAY

Elections Over and Moderators in Place, Three Bodies Settle Down to Business. Women in Meetings, Too.

With three great Presbyterian assemblies in full swing, and Atlanta the camping ground for thousands of delegates and visitors from all parts of the world, the second day of the Presbyterian conclave begins this morning at 9 o'clock. With a great mass of important organization business and committee reports ahead of them, the three assemblies will settle down early to work and will close their sessions early in the afternoon for a union communion service at 4 o'clock in the Baptist Tabernacle. And this will be followed in the evening by the second of the great Auditorium joint gatherings.

When the three separate sessions open Friday morning, the three newly elected moderators will be in the chairs, Dr. John Timothy Stone, of Chicago, the "dark horse" candidate who was swept into office at the U. S. A. election Thursday afternoon, will preside at the Baptist Tabernacle. Dr. S. R. Lyons, of Louisville, will be the new moderator in charge of the Southern assembly at the North Avenue Presbyterian church. Dr. R. M. Russell, of Wilmington, Pa., will preside over the United Presbyterians, in session at the Central Presbyterian church.

Gavels to Be Presented.

Dr. Stone, the U. S. A. moderator will be presented with the much talked-of Whitfield gavel Friday morning. It will be presented to him by Dr. George A. Beattie, of Atlanta, who secured wood from the pulpit where Whitfield preached and under which he now lies buried, in order to have this gavel made. Dr. Beattie will also present a historic gavel to the new moderator of the Southern assembly.

The thousands of visitors have become comfortably settled in Atlanta homes, boarding houses and the work of providing for them has been wonderfully successful. The office of the assemblies committee, 507 Empire building, was alive with visitors all day Thursday, as people were being assisted in getting straightened out. A number of interesting social events are being planned, the most interesting of which is the general reception which will be given Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Agnes Scott college, in Decatur, when the Presbyterians of Atlanta will entertain the commissioners and their wives.

Dr. Thornwell Jacobs' luncheon to the representatives of the religious and secular press takes place Friday at 12:30 o'clock at the Capital City club. This will be the first time in history that editors of papers representing different Presbyterian bodies have been entertained at dinner together. An opportunity has never been presented such as this one, when the assemblies are meeting in the same city for the first time.

Woman Missionaries Speak.

At the Central Congregational church, on Carnegie way, where the annual convention of the Woman's Missionary societies of the U. S. A. church is in session, a number of interesting addresses will be made Friday by woman missionaries from the home and foreign field. Mrs. S. L. Storer, Mrs. John L. Tait, Mrs. Robert MacKenzie, Miss Margaret E. Griffith are among those who will speak, and Mrs. D. P. Deffendorfer, of Pennsylvania, will make an address in the morning on "Mormonism." The sessions will be held at 10 and 2:30 o'clock.

At all three of the main assemblies a number of women are present, many visitors having come from all parts of the country, including a number of the commissioners' wives. All the women present are taking an active interest in the problems in church work that are being discussed.

Accident Restores Memory.

Warren, Pa., May 15.—An accident he sustained yesterday restored to John Oliver, a wealthy lumber owner of West Virginia and Pennsylvania, his memory. He disappeared twelve years ago, while suffering from a mental ailment. Oliver communicated with a brother in Chicago today, who confirmed the story and started for Warren to reclaim his lost kinsman.

The Eaton Inquest.

Rockland, Mass., May 15.—The inquest into the death of Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton, which was suspended when the widow, Mrs. Jennie M. Eaton, was arrested, charged with murder, will be resumed at Abington tomorrow.

Assembly Committees Named By United Presbyterians

LYONS NEW MODERATOR AFTER FIVE BALLOTS

Louisville Pastor, of Southern Assembly, Has Served in Three States.

Five ballots were required before Rev. J. S. Lyons, of Louisville, Ky., was elected moderator of the Southern Presbyterian assembly. Geographical justice was a much discussed question while the contest for moderator was on. The winner was born and reared in Virginia, and for years he was a pastor in Texas. Three states hailed him as their favorite son, and this nucleus proved a winning one.

All the southern states from Virginia to Mexico, with the exception of Maryland, were represented at the meeting which chose Dr. J. S. Lyons moderator for the coming year. Delegates from eighty-five presbyters, representing 2,500 churches, were on hand to take part in the proceedings, and when after the fourth ballot they decided to make the election of Dr. Lyons unanimous, they put the Southern Presbyterian assembly on record in favor of pastoral evangelism and the layman's movement, of which the new moderator is a recognized leader.

Before the candidates were placed in nomination no one had an idea who the victor would be. It is contrary to southern assembly traditions to announce candidates in advance, and pre-election campaigns are strictly taboo. But the fight made up in spontaneous enthusiasm what it lacked in pre-arranged "ecclesiastical politics."

Immediately upon his election, Dr. Lyons was presented with the gavel and installed as moderator by Dr. T. S. Clyce, the retiring moderator. Then twenty elders were named to meet Dr. Dunbar Ogden relative to inter-assembly meetings to be held during the next few days.

Dr. Flinn extended an invitation to all the visiting commissioners to join in the services held in the church house every morning preparatory for the duties of the day.

Definite Schedule Arranged.

A definite schedule regulating the hours for business was adopted. The morning session will begin promptly at 9 o'clock, and will adjourn at 12:30 o'clock. The afternoon meetings will convene at 2:30 o'clock, and the night sessions will start at 8 o'clock.

This morning will be given over to reading ninety communications which are now in the hands of the stated clerk. Then will follow several committee reports. Dr. E. W. Smith, chairman of the foreign missions committee, filed his report last Thursday evening and printed copies were distributed among the commissioners.

"Never in the history of the church have we sent as many missionaries out as we have during the past year," said Dr. E. W. Smith. "Then, too, we raised $128,000 more last year than ever before, and for the first time in its history the foreign mission department of the church is out of debt."

Applause greeted these announcements, but the moderator was called upon to invoke the decision of the high civil court that "If you have the right to applaud a speaker you have the right to hiss him, and, therefore, either is inappropriate."

Against Sunday Work.

Dr. Julian S. Sibley then read a report which placed the assembly on record against stores which stay open till 10 o'clock, or later, on Saturday night, for this incapacitates employees and prevents proper observation of the Sabbath. He urged members of the Southern Presbytery to discourage funerals on the Sabbath, and he opposed Sunday games, not only in the cities, but also in the army and navy.

"All eyes point to China as affording the greatest field for American Presbyterian work in the world. The object of our church is to propagate the word of God and the American Bible society has the books. They sold 1,388,000 copies in China in one year, and our work there has just begin."

Dr. Clyce Delivers Valedictory.

Rev. T. S. Clyce, D.D., moderator of the assembly for 1912, delivered his valedictory Thursday morning at the opening session of the United States assembly. Long before the hour set for the opening of the conference the North Avenue church was filled with commissioners and visitors who are in Atlanta for the assemblies and joint conferences. In the pulpit with Dr. Clyce was Dr. Richard Orme Flynn, pastor of the church.

The feature of the morning session was Dr. Clyce's sermon, and this was followed by the communion service.

"Man has not been satisfied with this life since the tragedy of Eden," said Dr. Clyce. "There is unrest everywhere. It is a glorious world. Why are we not satisfied?

"Because happiness does not consist in sensual enjoyment. The soul is like the eagle confined to a cage, beating its wings against the bars of his limitations. He was made for the skies. And the soul was made for God! Death is not the end.

"The cravings of the soul are not satisfied by wealth, nor by fame, nor power. This restlessness of soul is caused by sin. Remove the cause and you have the desired result.

"Why all this sensationalism in the pulpit? There is nothing in all this universe so attractive to the poor, lost sinner as the cross of Christ.

"There is no sinless perfection this side of the grave. At death the child of God will be superlatively happy. Rewards and punishments are according to the deeds done in the body and the resurrection means much in the great scheme of redemption. The earth will reel and tremble beneath the tread of the resurrected.

"The supreme folly of the ages is an immortal soul in search of happiness rushing madly beyond Christ."

ELECTROCUTION WAS CAUSE OF THE DEATH OF POLICEMAN CASH

J. C. Cash, an East Point policeman, who was found dead in front of the Citizens' bank in East Point Thursday morning, died as the result of accidental electrocution. There were no eye-witnesses to his death, but this fact was established beyond doubt by Coroner Donehoo shortly after the body was found.

The policeman was lying a few feet away from a chain used to light the arc lamp at the corner. As unmistakable signs of electrocution were found on his body, Coroner Donehoo believes that Cash was trying to light the lamp when his hand touched an exposed wire. The fact that the light was out all night lends strength to this theory.

A verdict of "death by accidental electrocution" was returned. The body was removed to Hemperly's undertaking establishment.

The funeral will be held at 11 o'clock Saturday morning at the residence on Washington street. Interment will be at West View cemetery.

Mr. Cash is survived by his wife and three children; his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cash; nine sisters, Mrs. W. P. Heath, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. C. T. Jones, Mrs. M. E. Benson, Mrs. B. O. Morton, Mrs. Jim Watson and Misses Kate, Pauline and Addie Cash, and three brothers, W. W., L. H. and Marcus Cash.

BRIBERY PROPOSED TO HARRY K. THAW

White's Slayer Says He Was Urged to Buy Freedom by Dr. Russell—Thaw Says He Was Well Swindled.

New York, May 15.—Dr. John W. Russell, former superintendent of the Matteawan state hospital for the criminal insane, first made the suggestion to Harry K. Thaw that he could be released by the payment of a large sum, Thaw testified today at the bribery trial of John W. Anhut here. Anhut, a young attorney, is charged with offering Dr. Russell a bribe of $20,000 for an order or certificate which would result in freeing Thaw from further confinement.

Thaw, brought from Matteawan, was subjected to a rigid examination and cross-examination. Objections of counsel for the defense that Thaw, legally, insane, was not competent to testify, were overruled by the court, who, however, held that his testimony must be considered as that of an insane person.

Thaw told of several visits paid to him by Anhut at Matteawan in 1912, when the declared Anhut "said he would get me discharged."

"I asked if Dr. Russell had settled on something definite," said Thaw, "and he (Anhut) said he had, and I said the money was much more than I expected to pay, that I was not in a position where I could pay it."

Thaw Says He Was Well Swindled.

Under cross-examination Thaw said that in all he had spent $65,000 and no more in efforts to secure his release from Matteawan. This sum, he said, was exclusive of the expenses of his two trials for the killing of Stanford White.

"I was pretty well swindled on my two trials here," Thaw declared. "The costs were something tremendous."

The witness said that during a conversation with Anhut questions of raising the money were discussed, and that a week later he secured 110 shares of Gas Company stock valued at about $20,000 and $5,000 cash from his sister, Mrs. George L. Carnegie.

"Were not the securities to be turned over to Anhut?" Thaw was asked.

"No, they were to be turned over to Dr. Russell. We had arranged everything before I ever saw Anhut."

Thaw declared that his agreement with Anhut called for the return of all or part of the $25,000 if he did not walk out of the door of the asylum or was not released by the court by specified dates. He said Anhut paid him back $14,700 of the $25,000 January 1 last, when the plan had failed.

Objected to Being Called Harry.

During cross-examination Thaw objected to being called "Harry," saying his name was "Henry."

"Are you the Henry K. Thaw who shot and killed White?" the witness was asked.

"Yes," in a low voice.

"Did you intend to kill him?"

"This is a question outside the issue, and I refuse to answer."

Justice Seabury declined to direct the witness to answer.

Thaw said he was anxious to get out of Matteawan, but in doing so he did not desire to injure anyone. He did not see Anhut as an attorney for himself, he said, but as attorney for Dr. Russell. He added that he understood the receipts for the gas stock and $5,000 in cash were written by Dr. Russell.

"Anhut," Thaw testified, "said Dr. Russell had to have all the money before he would do anything."

Obtained Money From Sister.

This testimony was brought out in connection with the alleged preliminary negotiations conducted by Anhut previous tto the time Thaw testified he obtained the gas stock and cash from his sister. The witness said he still was on friendly terms with Dr. Russell. He denied that he had ever received any unusual favors in the asylum. Counsel for Anhut asked if the cause for his friendship for Russell was the alleged plan for his release.

"It was all arranged," Thaw repeated, "but not in the cause of our mutual friendship. Anhut was his lawyer to conclude arrangements, for it was understood that if Russell released me right off it might arouse criticism."

Dr. Russell resigned as superintendent at Matteawan shortly after Governor Sulzer and Colonel Joseph F. Scott, then superintendent of prisons, a letter demanding Dr. Russell's removal. The governor's action resulted from disclosures in an investigation of the matter at Albany, at his instigation, last February.

Court was adjourned until tomorrow morning immediately following the announcement that Thaw's testimony was concluded. Thaw was taken back to Matteawan tonight.

STRIP OF ALASKA COAST FOR GREAT BRITAIN

Washington, May 15.—For mutual benefit, Representative Stephens, of Texas, today proposed, in a joint resolution introduced at the request of the Universal Peace union, that the United States cede Great Britain the coast strip of southeastern Alaska, 536 miles long and in some places 8 or 10 miles wide. The resolution calls on President Wilson to negotiate for a commission to investigate the proposed transfer and suggests such a move would set an example in the policy of mutual concession that would constitute a "glorious achievement in history."

Lott Dispute Settled.

Waycross, Ga., May 15.—(Special.)—A Coffee county case in which there is much local interest has just been settled in the ordinary's court of that county. Heirs of the Lott estate, through Allen B. Spence, of this city, brought suit against Elias Hinson, administrator of the Lott estate, for certain sums they claimed were due. The ordinary gave judgment for principal and interest, amounting to $7,110. Six years ago the heirs received $5,000 from an estate valued at $26,000.

UNION LONG WAY OFF FOR TWO ASSEMBLIES

United Presbyterian and U. S. Presbyterian Leaders Expect to Wait a Generation.

No definite action will be taken by the United Presbyterians toward organic union with the other bodies at this general assembly, it is believed, as a memorial was presented at the general assembly yesterday morning in the Central Presbyterian church.

For some time a movement has been on foot to unite the United Presbyterians and the United States Presbyterians, but the general sentiment now is that it will take a decade, and possibly a full generation, before such union is accomplished.

These memorials, however, will be considered by the committe on basis of union, which is composed of Dr. J. K. McClurkin, Dr. W. W. Williamson, Dr. J. C. Sculleer and T. S. McMurray.

At the afternoon session of the United Presbyterians Rev. Joseph B. Turner, of Philadelphia, spoke in the interest of the Presbyterian Historical society of the Philippines, whose purpose is to gather and conserve Presbyterian church history.

Rev. Frank Foster, of Cincinnati, representing the American Tract society, urged larger giving toward the foreign missions.

"Dr. Friedmann, it is thought, has found a cure for tuberculosis," he said. "Why is it that no one can find a cure for the germ of indolence in regard to giving. Let us be more liberal and remember that money is given up not for our own selfish pleasures, but to help our fellowmen. We need money, and much of it. Let us come forward and act in this emergency."

M'CONNELL BELIEVED TO FAVOR LOCAL CALL

The hopes of the Baptist Tabernacle congregation to secure Rev. Lincoln McConnell, the noted lecturer and evangelist, as pastor of their church, were heightened Thursday afternoon by a telegram from Mr. McConnell, who is now conducting a union meeting in Higginsville, Mo., to the effect that he is seriously considering the call of the Tabernacle people and will endeavor to give them an answer as soon as possible.

A. C. Boatman, chairman of the committee of five through whom the call to the Tabernacle was extended to the evangelist, said last night that it was impossible to gather from the message an idea of whether or not he would accept, and that a definite answer is not expected before the first of next week.

Meanwhile, he said, the Tabernacle is living in hopes and will do everything possible to persuade Mr. McConnell to come to Atlanta.

CADETS OF UNIVERSITY GO INTO CAMP MONDAY

Athens, Ga., May 15—(Special.)—The University of Georgia cadets, four companies of infantry, one of artillery and a signal corps, will leave Monday, May 19, for a week's camp on the banks of the Chattahoochee river and Lake Warner, near Gainesville. They have camped there for seven previous years—going last year to Augusta and back to Gainesville this year—a month later than their usual camping. The final examinations follow after camp week, and the boys, besides having the experience of regular military duty in camp, will be physically fitted for the extra work preceding commencement.

After Woolen Trust.

Washington, May 15.—Representative Francis reintroduced today his resolution proposing congressional investigation of the American Woolen company, with directions to report bills requiring the prosecution of the company, its dissolution or both, if found warranted.

ALBANY'S TROLLEYS REFUSE TO BULGE; MANY DISAPPOINTED

Albany, Ga., May 15.—(Special.)—Albany had to swallow one of the greatest disappointments in her history today when lectrical transforming machinery which had been installed in the plant of the Albany Power company, failed to work, and it was found impossible to put current on the wires of the Albany Transit company for the operation of trolley cars.

Big preparations for the day had been made. The mayor had proclaimed a half holiday, and the stores were ready to close. Hundreds of visitors came to town this morning, and several prominent citizens of neighboring communities were loaded with speeches which they had been invited to deliver. A baseball game had been transferred from Columbus, and at least one special train brought a big crowd of celebrators. The new trolley cars were on the tracks and ready to run, but not a wheel could be turned.

It is stated that the trouble will probably be remedied by tomorrow, and that cars will be immediately put in operation.

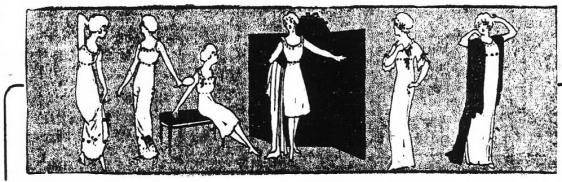
12,000 yds. of 10c to 25c Pretty Val Laces at 6c



10c to 25c Laces for 6c. The statement is trite. We feel it. We know that 3 and 4 yards of wanted laces for the usual price of 1 yard is a merchandising scoop—an achievement that calls for all the red ink in the bottle and all the large type in the printer's case.

But why indulge in hysteria? The mere statement over Rich's name is sufficient. You know it is true. The laces are in the window for you to see; at our counters for you to handle—we know you will appreciate the BARGAIN just as much as though we had shrieked it in a page of box car letters.

The laces are an importer's close-out lot. Identical laces from the same importer have sold over our counters for 15c and 20c; not a yard is worth less than 10c; some are worth 25c. Variously in white and real tints, edges and insertings to match. Widths from 1¾ to 4½ inches. There are—

THE JAP'S SILVER LINING.

There may seem to be little connection between scientific agriculture and the shrill outcry raised by California over Japanese bogies. As a matter of fact, there is a very intimate connection, and it is likely to be made manifest ultimately in a very beneficial sense, showing itself indeed as the silver lining to what is otherwise a decidedly irritating cloud. Many unkind eastern newspapers are, for instance, declaring that the basis of California's protest is California's laziness. It appears that the folk of the "Golden Gate State" have gone ahead and exhausted their acres by slipshod farming methods. The industrious Japs have acquired little clumps of these lands, and, practicing intensive farming, have produced marvelous results and frightened their Caucasian neighbors into spasms over what might occur to California farming as a whole if the Japs get hold of very many more acres.

Using this condition as an argument, even so temperate and penetrating a journal as Harper's Weekly declares that what California needs is not the services of Secretary of State Bryan, but of Secretary of Agriculture Houston. What the Californians should do, declares Colonel Harvey, and he is only one of the most advancing similar advice, is to take lessons in scientific agriculture and soil conservation from the Japs. In other words, if the Californians were as good farmers as the Japs the latter would not have been able to elbow them out, and there would today be no Jap problem in that state.

There is a great deal of substance in the argument, but one important qualification. Californians are justified, as would be the rest of the country, in resisting any system which brought them down to the pauper Oriental scale of living, or the scale of living, for that matter, that prevails in many European countries. That said, the rest of the lesson is plain, and it applies not only to California, but equally to every state in the union. Every part of the country, the south included, has been and is indolent and unbusinesslike when it comes to agriculture. We have wasted and are wasting our lands by the old methods, constantly stripping them of value, instead of applying the intensive system as do the Japs. If the Japanese theory of agriculture were applied and tempered by the American scale of living many of our economic troubles would blow away like thistledown.

That does not, of course, change our conviction that the plan California has chosen to solve a local problem trenches on national rights and dignity. Whether her impelling motive is racial or economic she will, sooner or later, have to abide the sovereignty of the big power back of her. Meanwhile, the whole nation can learn from these thrifty Japs a lesson in agriculture which must be learned from someone if we are to grapple successfully with the problems of the future.

A GOOD CHOICE.

It is to be hoped that the Rev. Lincoln McConnell will accept the call tendered him unanimously by the congregation of the Tabernacle Baptist church. He is well known in Atlanta, and is familiar with local conditions, having previously held pastorates here.

Mr. McConnell is pre-eminently the type of man who might be expected to carry out the projects of Dr. Broughton, so intimately identified with the Tabernacle Baptist. He is an effective pulpiteer and an energetic civic and religious worker. He would undoubtedly infuse new vitality into the Tabernacle institutions and contribute materially to forward civic campaigns of the community.

If Mr. McConnell gives favorable consideration to the call he is sure of a welcome confined to none of the denominations in this city.

SIMPLE HOSPITALITY.

Councilman Claude Ashley will introduce at the next meeting of council a resolution appropriating a contingent fund for the entertainment of unofficial but prominent visitors who may come to Atlanta. As an illustration when important municipal officials from Orange and other cities in New Jersey visited Atlanta for the purpose of inspecting our sewage disposal plant there was no method of entertaining them or even assisting them upon their mission, except at private expense. When Atlanta's officials go abroad on such errands they are carried about such cities as they visit and generallly shown many courtesies. That procedure should be reciprocated by Atlanta, and it is in most cases reciprocated, but the cost comes out of private purses. The cause is essentially of a public or quasi-public nature, and should be provided for by public expenditure.

Year by year a great many persons come to Atlanta, to investigate her various public utilities or other municipal features, who cannot be entertained by the chamber of commerce or other civic bodies. The burden falls directly on public officials. This should not be so, in justice to the visitors, to the officials and to the city itself. Atlanta is big enough and rich enough to show common hospitality, in an official sense, without doing so vicariously out of the private funds of her public servants.

A small sum set aside and so hedged as to prevent abuse will be the solution of a quandary that will plague us more as the city becomes larger and more popular.

A TICKLISH SITUATION.

Guatemala has saved the Wilson administration an awkward predicament by voluntarily arranging terms for the payment of a debt held by subjects of Great Britain. Several days ago that country extended an ultimatum to the president of Guatemala, sending a battleship to back it up. Secretary Bryan sought to soften the situation by representing to England that this government hoped there would be an extension of the ultimatum. Now that Guatemala has acted of her own volition the probability of a contretemps between our country and England has for the moment passed.

It is, however, inevitable that sooner or later Mr. Wilson must clearly define the attitude of this country under democracy toward the question of the collection of foreign debts in other nations on this hemisphere. The task will be by no means an easy one or one to approach with a broad-ax. Mr. Bryan has already upset the Taft "dollar diplomacy" program by setting forth that the armed forces of this nation will not be used for the purpose of coercing the collection of debts owed American citizens. If that principle also be observed to the letter which regard to the debts of other countries held in other nations on this hemisphere, the situation will not be a simple one.

In deference to the Monroe doctrine we will not allow nations of the old world to occupy new territory on this side of the water. That principle is already well established. If, now, we refuse ourselves to take steps that will force the small creditor nations of this hemisphere to observe their obligations, we occupy an emphatically contradictory situation. Fortunately, the tendency in South and Central America is toward stable conditions and the observance of such laws as will insure solvency and prevent just such crises as those presented in the case of Guatemala.

NORTH GEORGIA DRAINAGE.

Farmers of north Georgia who are interested in the subject of land drainage will meet in Commerce on May 23 to hear officials of state and nation discuss the profit in land reclamation.

While there is not nearly so much submerged area in middle and north as in south Georgia, the aggregate quantity still is sufficient to warrant outlay in its reclamation. Projects in Gwinnett county, for instance, have attracted widespread attention, and been visited by many persons from adjoining counties. In several of the counties verging on the Blue Ridge there are plots that are more or less swampy or semi-marsh lands. Other bottom lands could with profit be reclaimed so that their agricultural potency would each year be a fixed quantity.

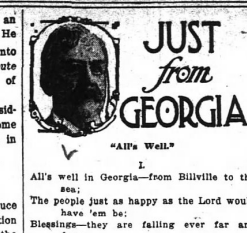
The north Georgia movement is simply a reflection of the south Georgia movement, where drainage is really a tremendous problem. Over all the state the significance is that farmers and land-owners are waking to the advantage of adding to the arable area now available. A large population could be fed and supported on the acres now going to waste in Georgia.

The poets are not singing about "summertime in Georgia," being fearful that the farmers will catch them and put them to plowing.

For the twentieth time they are talking of getting together what is left of the republican party.

There is everywhere a suspicion that the brand used in Washington is sour grape juice.

Bryan is in the limelight almost as often as Vice President Marshall.



"All's Well."

I.

All's well in Georgia—from Billville to the sea;
The people just as happy as the Lord would have 'em be;
Blessings—they are falling ever far and free,—
All's well throughout the shiny country!

II.

All's well in Georgia—that's the song to sing,—
To make the bells forever in sweetest music ring;
Happy from the winter to the blossoms of the spring,—
All's well throughout the shiny country!

III.

Send that music ringing past the clouds on high,
Holding not an echo or memory of a sigh;
We want the folks to know it in the mansions of the sky,—
"All's well throughout the shiny country!"

The Old Lesson.

This the old-time lesson

The further you must fall."

But this is for your comfort:

Stay there, good people,—
Never tumble down!

"The Call of the Hills."

I.

The hills, they call from 'way off,—
They send this word to you;
"O toiler, take a day off
In daisies and in dew!
So long you've toiled and striven,
For one day take your ease;
Bare your brow to heaven—
Be a brother to the breeze!"

II.

So the hills are crying
All the world along:
"Leave the vales of sighing
For the heights of song!"
Calling from away off,
Still they say to you:
"Toiler, take a day off
In daisies and in dew!"

A Story of the Moment

By WALT MASON
The Famous Prose Poet.

An Unprofitable Policy

"Our new boarder is a remarkably fine young man," said the landlady. "He draws his salary every Saturday night, and on Monday morning he deposits one-third of it in the bank. Most young men nowadays are extravagant, and it does one good to see a youth who makes provision for the future."

"I have but little respect for any young man who puts a part of his salary in the bank," said the star boarder. "It is a discouraging fact that such a young man usually receives the approbation of elderly landladies and other obsolete moralists, which causes him to believe that he is doing something fine, and he soon begins to regard himself as a shining example, and so becomes insufferable; and I have no doubt whatever that I'll rise from the table one of these days and smite that model young man in the eye with a codfish ball, for if there is one thing I abominate, my dear Mrs. Jiggers, it's a shining example.

"I can understand and sympathize with the man, who, waxing well stricken in years, devotes his attention to saving money. There is nothing else for him to do. The girls won't escort him to the moving picture shows, the boys consider him an encumbrance in their games. He finds himself an anachronism. He is a square peg, and all the available holes are round. He must amuse himself some way, so he begins saving money, and spends the long winter evenings studying his bank book, and figuring out how much money he will have five years hence, the probability being that he will be in a box then. Don't understand me as saying that the elderly man should save money. I merely insist that he has some excuse for it. As a matter of fact, no sane citizen puts his money in the bank. He lows it in and shows an inflexible determination to leave nothing behind him for the lawyers. There is nothing finer than to see an old man squandering his money hand over fist, while the attorneys and conveyancers look on and gnash their teeth in impotent rage.

"But there is no excuse for the young man who saves money. He is a cold-blooded creature, who reflects discredit upon the entire race. Youth is a season of roses and wine, Mrs. Jiggers, and the young man who has as much as fifty cents of his wages left on Monday morning should be ashamed to consult himself in the looking glass. The ideal young man has to borrow money from the janitor on Monday and soak his watch on Tuesday. And he doesn't buy anything useful with his wages. Buying useful things is quite as contemptible as putting money in the bank, and no youth of spirit will consider such a course. When I was young, before I discovered that honest toil is a delusion, I worked in a hardware store and drew my wages on Saturdays. In those days dogs were popular, and I spent most of my money for such creatures. I bought a new dog every Saturday night. I had bulldogs and terriers and hounds and spaniels. I had foreign and domestic dogs. I had more dogs than a contortionist could shake a stick at. It took all my spare change to buy feed for them, and people said I was crazy. Perhaps I was, but I was happy. You can't realize how happy you can be until you have a gross of assorted dogs, which bark all night and dodge the bootjacks thrown in by incensed neighbors. There's nothing more amusing than to see a fat man at his bedroom window throwing shelf and heavy hardware at a galaxy of dogs.

"Suddenly I was fired from my position and found myself with an aggregation of bow-wows and less than 20 cents in cash. For several days I peddled dogs around town and thus earned enough to keep soul and body together. I found the experience amusing, and danced and sang as I made my rounds, with my sample case full of dogs. Meanwhile the bookkeeper in that hardware store, a model young man, sneered at me in the most heartless way, and one day when he was sneering the bank in which he had deposited his money went broke, and he lost the savings of years. So, while I was merrily vending my pups, he was going down to the creek to tie a boulder around his neck and put an end to his misery. We always have that consolation when we see a young man depositing his money; the bank will suspend payment."

Here and Now

By George Matthew Adams

Here and Now are the Twin Words that ought to have a place in the home of every man and woman who wants to amount to Something "while the Sun shines." They ought to blaze out in letters of Fire before the eyes of every Human Being in every land.

Your Work is where you are, and the time to do it is Now.

Of course, what ought to be done right Now looks so much easier and simpler of achievement Tomorrow, or at some more convenient time. And the Job with some other concern or with some other city looks so much bigger and better. But you will never go wrong if you remember this—

Your Work is where you are, and the time to do it is Now.

Here—your tent is set. Here the ground is broken. Here you know just how to go at things—without loss and without waste. Here you can be Master, there you may be a poor Novice. Once you let the germ of "Overthere" get you, and soon you will be all broken out with one of the worst of human ailments—the Disease of "Nowhere."

Your Work is where you are, and the time to do it is Now.

This world is getting fuller of Happiness every day, because people are beginning to understand that Heaven is—Here and Now. And in the Business world, the idea of Efficiency is gaining by leaps and bounds because both Employer and Employee are learning the real meaning of Here and Now. If everybody—If You—would but catch the full Force and Power that these little words carry each Day would recede noiselessly and content to its Couch each Night.

Your Work is where you are, and the time to do it is Now.

Take hold upon these two little words at this very moment. Carry out their commands to the letter. Reap the rewards that are sure to give you—Here and Now.

Bees Slay Chickens.

(San Francisco Dispatch to The New York Press.)

Arthur J. Holmes, a Beresford farmer, whose establishment is near the summer home of Antoine Borel, was not cut out for a bee fancier. Some time ago while pruning some trees on his farm, Arthur was overjoyed to discover a colony of bees ensconced in a hollow limb, busily engaged in making honey.

Recently he decided that the time was ripe to sample this unexpected luxury, so he proceeded to the tree and began operations by poking in the hole with a large stick. Then things happened.

The bees, alarmed and angered at this treatment, came forth to do battle, and in a trice Arthur was hitting the high spots for home, followed by the buzzing swarm. An hour later he thought it safe to come out again, and cautiously approached the bee tree, which was near the chicken pen. Stark and stiff in the inclosure lay fourteen newly hatched chickens. The bees, having lost their human prey, had wreaked their vengeance upon the defenseless chicks.

Arthur will not have honey on his biscuits today.

The World's Mysteries

THE BURNING MIRRORS OF ARCHIMEDES.

In the early part of April there appeared in the American newspapers a dispatch from Rome to the effect that what are believed to have been the celebrated Burning Mirrors, invented by Archimedes for destroying an enemy's ships by focusing the sun's rays on them, had been found in the harbor of Syracuse. The find consisted of two bronze concave disks more than three feet in diameter, joined with a rotary apparatus.

This find created no end of interest among the delvers into antiquity, for the reason that the Burning Mirrors of Archimedes have been looked upon as somewhat of a mystery. According to Gibbon, the historian, a tradition has prevailed that the Roman fleet was reduced to ashes in the port of Syracuse by these Burning Mirrors of Archimedes; and it is asserted that a similar expedient was employed by Proclus to destroy the Gothic vessels in the harbor of Constantinople, and to protect his benefactor, Anastasius, against the bold enterprise of Vitalian.

A machine was focused on the walls of the city, consisting of a hexagon mirror of polished brass, with many smaller and movable polygons to receive and reflect the rays of the meridian sun; and a consuming flame was diverted to a distance, perhaps, of 200 feet.

The truth of these two extraordinary facts is invalidated by the silence of the authentic historians; and the use of Burning Glasses was never adopted in the attack or defense of places. Yet the admirable experiments of a French philosopher at the end of the eighteenth century have demonstrated the possibility of such a mirror; and since it is possible, Gibbon says, he is more disposed to attribute the art to the greatest mathematician of antiquity.

Is it possible that Burning Mirrors could have been effective for the destruction of ships? Syracuse, it will be remembered, was "the cradle of mechanical skill," and Gibbon is not alone responsible for the statement as to their use. Tzetzes describes the artifice of these Burning Glasses, of which he had read in a mathematical treatise of Anthemius. Yet, on the other hand, it seems remarkable that such authentic historians as Polybius, Plutarch, Livy and Marcellinus, if such Burning Glasses had been used, make no mention of the fact, as well as none of the writers of the sixth century.

This is especially true since all these writers mention that it was at this same siege of Syracuse that Archimedes invented and first used the catapults which long kept the enemy at bay, being adopted for use at short and long range. This siege occurred a little more than two centuries before Christ.

Archimedes was one of the most remarkable of ancient inventors and mathematicians and was born at Syracuse 287 B. C. It was Archimedes who first established the truths that a body plunged in fluid loses as much of its weight as is equal to the weight of an equal volume of the fluid.

Plutarch tells the following story regarding the accomplishment of Archimedes:

He declared that with a given power he could move any given weight whatever, and that if given another world to stand on, he could move the one upon which we live. He was requested to put his theory into practice. He took a three-masted ship, a transport in the king's navy, which had just been dragged upon land with great labor and many men, and in this he placed her usual complement of men and cargo, and then, sitting at some distance, without any trouble, by gently pulling with his hand the end of a system of pullies, he dragged it towards him with as smooth and even a motion as if it were passing over the sea.

Archimedes died at the capture of Syracuse by Marcellus B. C. 212. In the general massacre that followed the fall of the city he, while engaged in drawing a mathematical figure, was killed by a Roman soldier. No blame attaches to the Roman general, as he had given orders to his men to spare the house and person of the sage, and in the midst of his triumph he lamented the death of so illustrious a person and directed an honorable burial to be given and that his surviving relatives be befriended.

In accordance with the expressed desire of the philosopher, his tomb was marked by the figure of a sphere inscribed in a cylinder, which he considered one of his most valuable achievements. The discovery, noted above, of what may be Archimedes' Burning Mirrors, may lead to a further investigation of the subject and the mystery as to whether Gibbon's story is to be credited may be solved.

More Sinned Against

By Philip Weltner, Secretary Prison Association of Georgia

Bob's father was getting on in years. Rheumatism kept him a good deal from the shop. On his seventy-first birthday the boy of his old age was sent to the chaingang.

Bob had come back from Birmingham to live with his people and help earn their keep. The shop foreman could not take him on. A job opened up in the Marietta Marble works.

The old man could not spare the fare. A friend was going along. They would steal the ride on an outbound freight. The adventure seemed inviting. The pair was flushed by railroad detectives. The friend got away; Bob was caught.

He was promptly tried. The judge did not know Bob. And our system of judicial investigation does not provide a method by which the judge can really find out anything about the men before him, except their guilt or innocence, which is very little, indeed. There was the usual $50 or eight months.

The little home-place lies on the road by which the convict wagons pass. When the old man leaves off work, he can hear their rattle. The rattle tells him of his boy.

Once he was a little fellow just like other boys. He really is not any different now. But people count him a criminal. Out at the camp his legs are bound in chains, his body clothed in stripes.

"I can't think about it. I mustn't. My heart would break. When I hear the wagons rattle, I go in the back part of the house. I can't stand the sound." The old fellow sturdily bid his welling tears.

Out in the camp Bob sees his fellow-man struck by the lash. It is probably the first time he ever saw the sight. The captain is a good man. But what can he do? The stupid law does not furnish his men with any other incentive.

Out in the camp Bob hears of tales of crime. What else have the men to talk about? Most of the stories paint crime triumphant.

Eventually the weary months will drag to a close. The penalty will have been paid. After prison, what? He will not know a trade. The state exploited his young strength to build good roads. It gave him nothing in return.

All he acquired was a knowledge that crime often goes unpunished, and a distaste for honest effort. The man who works because he is made to soon loses the ability to work of his own accord. His friends will have gone. His record will force him to live a life. He will be an easy prey to every influence that points the easiest way—the deadliest way.

Does Georgia's prison system put a check on crime? The hope is ridiculous. Juries often acquit the apparently guilty rather than send them to the gang. Those that are sent there come away the worse for their stay.

Probation, under the kindly discipline of a probation officer, who would have seen to it that Bob got work and stuck to it, and who would have helped him pay off in installments the fine the court might have imposed, would have solved the perplexity of the court in dealing with this 17-year-old offender.

MODERN INVENTIONS

Oriental Rugs

By GEORGE FITCH
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

The Oriental rug is not strictly a modern invention, but the prices now obtained for them are.

The Oriental rug was originally woven by hand in some far-off corner of the desert by a family and its descendants. It was woven out of camel's hair or silk in fantastic Oriental designs which the designer carried in his head and altered whenever he had a lapse of memory.

The Oriental rug was the most useful thing about the Oriental family. Whenever a family set up housekeeping it began by weaving a rug. This took from six months to ten years, according to the rug and the family. When the rug was finished it was used for a carpet, a bed, a saddle, a windbreak, a table, a wall, a wheat bin and for many other useful purposes. After an Oriental rug has been mellowed by several generations for such use, it becomes soft and beautiful and can be smelled for several rods on a damp, muggy day.

Some years ago people began to import these rugs to America. They are now very popular. If a rug is treated kindly it will last forever and in another century the importance of an American family will be determined by the number of Oriental rugs its ancestors have bequeathed to it.

Oriental rugs are now sold in such vast numbers that if all the Oriental rug weavers worked day and night they would still be several years behind orders. They are also so valuable that a small rug of good family and unblemished descent will often sell for $100 a square foot. Rich Americans now collect Oriental rugs instead of postage stamps and enlarge their houses from year to year to accommodate their collections.

Oriental rugs are divided into two kinds, like money—real and counterfeit. Many a man has paid $300 for a genuine Oriental brought from the desert by camel and has found the first time he turned the hose on it that it was woven in New Jersey by an exile out of Georgia cotton and that its colors would make the Marathon running records look sick.

Opportunity.

Master of human destinies am I!
Fame, love and fortune on my footsteps wait.
Cities and fields I walk; I penetrate
Deserts and seas remote, and passing by
Hovel and mart and palace—soon or late
I knock unbidden once at every gate!

If sleeping, wake—if feasting, rise before
I turn away. It is the hour of fate,
And they who follow me reach every state
Mortals desire, and conquer every foe
Save death; but those who doubt or hesitate
Condemned to failure, penury and woe,
Seek me in vain and uselessly implore.
I answer not, and I return no more!

UNION OF SPIRIT SHOWN AT MEETING

Precedents of History Broken When Presbyterians From All Parts of Globe Gather at Mass Meeting.

For the first time in the history of the world, representatives of four great sections of the Presbyterian church gathered together last night in Atlanta's Auditorium-Armory. Ministers and laymen from every portion of the globe were present—men old and gray and bent with years of faithful service, sat side by side with others—younger men going forth to fight battles for their faith.

The U. S., the United, the U. S. A. and the Associate Reformed Presbyterians were represented; all joined together by "one faith, one God, one baptism." The latter, while not holding their assembly here, as the others are owning to theirs being a triennial affair, had their delegates present to join in this great union meeting.

Speculation has been rife as to the union of the four great bodies. Last night showed conclusively that there would be no organic union at this general meeting of the assemblies. It was a union of spirit that was gained last night.

See One Church in Future.

It was easy to see that there were those present who could never part with their own doctrinal beliefs, though it was made plain that they would welcome others to their fold. Yet these very men predicted the day when all such would be laid aside, and one great Presbyterian church would reign, and that in the near future.

Several of the speakers, when the chance afforded itself in their addresses, were careful to say that what they were alluding to was the union of spirit and not of organism.

James MacDonald, of Toronto, Canada, publisher of The Toronto Globe, was the speaker of the evening. The keynote of his address, which was said to be straight from the shoulder, was:

"If is the duty of the church to instruct public opinion as to the sinfulness of war, its wanton waste of the people's wealth, its crushing burdens of the poor, its poisoning of the nation's life and its irreparable demoralization of the manhood of the country."

At the opening of the meeting, the building rang with praise, as famous old hymns were sung. Each delegate of Presbyterians took their turn in rising and singing some old familiar hymn, dear if nothing but for its associations.

Presiding Officer Rev. R. O. Flinn, of Atlanta, called upon Dr. W. P. Jacobs, of Clifton, S. C., to pronounce the invocation.

Keynote of Meeting in Prayer.

A deep hush spread over the Auditorium, 5,000 people rose with bowed heads as Dr. Jacobs prayed a prayer that was the keynote of the union of spirit which pervaded the meeting.

A gavel made from the wood of four of the oldest Presbyterian theological colleges in America—Princeton, Semmes, Richmond and Erskine seminaries—was presented to the assembly by Dr. G. A. Beattie, of Atlanta. "Being made of the wood of four trees, in case there is ever an union of the churches, this gavel will be prophetic," said Dr. Beattie in presenting it.

J. K. Orr welcomed the Presbyterians in the name of Atlanta. "Some of you haven't been here since the war, when you came down with Sherman to reform us. We mourned his going for many days, in sackcloth and ashes. And, while we had to hustle around to get the sackcloth, he supplied the ashes.

"But we are glad to have you with us; glad to know that the prodigal has returned."

National Christian Movement Asked.

Dr. T. S. Clyce, retired moderator of the U. S. church, made a strong plea for a national Christian movement, and urged that the great Presbyterian body be the force behind such.

"Many Presbyterians are numbered among those who control the finance of the nation," he said, "but we should be a still greater power for religion in the national life of the world. Our nation should wield a moral force, a religious force for good over the globe. And yet we have not met our new responsibilities. You think we are Christian, we are pagan. It remains for those who believe that God controls the nation, to save America.

"We must speak this message across the waters, and none are better to do this service than Americans. We should be closer; we should join hands for Christ and America."

Rev. J. H. Pressley, representing the Associated Reform Presbyterian church, which has sent its delegates to the assembly, though this is not their convention year, voiced the prevailing opinion of spiritual union.

"John Knox was too modest when he said, 'O Lord, give me Scotland, or I die.' Today he has Scotland, and America, and the many countries of the globe. History, for once, is not repeating itself tonight. This is the greatest meeting of Presbyterians ever held; we are here to get nearer together, and let us say, 'Thy will be done.'"

Dr. Bell Asks Organic Union.

Dr. Hugh H. Bell, of San Francisco, retired moderator of the United Presbyterians, made a strong plea for organic union.

"I think this meeting sets a great pace for Presbyterism in this country," he said. "But there are three things which we need while here.

"First, unction; unction from on high, that our deliberations may be sane and sound.

"Unity; we are not disagreed on the diety of Christ; we are not disagreed on the importance of missions. We must not crucify a Christ because of our doctrinal differences.

"I do not believe that anything in the entire history of the United States has ever pleased Christ more than this great meeting.

"I hope to see that every form of Presbyterianism will at some time be united.

"As the church stands today, a great challenge has been issued to you and to me, and unless we bring others to the Christ our mission has been fruitless. We are commissioned as heralders in Christ, and the centuries bid us 'quit you like men.'

"The day is not far distant when the American Presbyterian church will be without doctrinal distinction or difference," said Dr. Mark A. Matthews, of the U. S. A. church, Seattle, Wash.

James MacDonald Addresses Meeting.

When James MacDonald, of The Toronto Globe, was introduced he was greeted with a round of applause which lasted for several minutes. Mr. MacDonald reached the heart of his subject at once and for the space of an hour held his audience as few men can. Near the end when he spoke of ending his speech cries of "go on, go on" from all parts of the house, urged him to continue to the end. He spoke in part as follows:

"No nation can live to itself or die to itself. It was once the dream of American statesmen that this republic might live in comfortable isolation from all alliances and antagonisms with Europe and the world. Statesmen in Canada still protest that their dominion shall not be drawn into the mad vortex of European politics. But, whether we wish it or not, America is now, and must forever remain, a factor in world affairs, and more and more both the United States and Canada must take account of world conditions.

"It is for this reason I ask you first of all to consider the fact of internationalism.

Fact of Internationalism.

"This very occasion illustrates the fact of internationalism on this continent. A Canadian speaker on this platform is as much at home as he would be in Toronto. The dividing line between the two countries and their two governments is by no means imaginary, but the two peoples are not so divided. Sovereignty meets sovereignty and flag meets flag along the 4,000 miles of transcontinental boundary, but the two peoples, with their interests and ideals and purposes all interwoven, cross and recross until from the Rio Grande to Hudson's bay, and from Cape Breton to California, there is being erected a vast community of interests, of opportunities and of obligations which make America unique among the continents; one in its life, one in its responsibility, and one in its message to the world.

"In this great world-wide movement of internationalism does the Christian church play any worthy part or know any high obligation? The church stands in the forefront. Its very genius is international. Put its original commission, by its program and its purposes and by the immeasurable range of its evangel, it is above all other institutions splendidly international. The glad tidings of Bethlehem were not for Jews alone, but for all nations. The marching orders from Olivet, 'Go ye into all the world,' take no account of political divisions or local patriotism or national flags. Of necessity the state and its government are confined within the bounds of their own domain, but for the church 'the field is the world' into that world field the church goes, not with any national flag or any political program, but with a pregnant idea and with the irrepressible emotion of a new life."

COMING OF W. J. BURNS SAID TO BE ASSURED

and manager of the Burns headquarters in New York. The expert investigator preceding him will set instantly to work today, and, it is said, will operate in conjunction with the solicitor general's office.

In courtesy to Burns, Mr. Felder will not reveal the amount necessary for his employment. It can be obtained easily, though, says the attorney, and within three days or less, he declares, the subscription campaign will have been finished.

"Burns is coming—that's a settled fact," Mr. Felder told a Constitution reporter last night. "The money required to procure him depends mostly on the time necessary for his investigation. He will not be in Atlanta for more than three weeks, at the longest.

"He will bring with him a staff of expert criminal investigators. His work will be secret and not until his investigation is completed will any inkling of his progress be made known. The secrecy of his operations is one of the many secrets of his phenomenal success as a detective."

Donations Expected Today.

Colonel Felder expects a number of donations today. He requests that all persons subscribing to the Burns fund to notify or send their checks to Charles I. Ryan, cashier of the Fourth National bank, in whose charge has been placed the financial end of the move to employ the detective.

For the second time since her husband's arrest, Mrs. Leo Frank visited the prisoner in the Tower Tuesday afternoon. He was brought the trap-key from his cell on the second floor to the dining room downstairs, where they were closeted for an hour or more.

Tears dimmed the eyes of both husband and the pretty wife when they emerged. He walked with unsteady step back to his cell, and she hurried to the street, dabbing her eyes with a handkerchief as she made her way to the entrance. On account of her weakened condition, caused by the shock of her husband's arrest and the charge against him, Mrs. Frank has been able to make but two trips to the jail.

On the second journey, she brought a tray of dainties and a package of clothing. Frank is undergoing imprisonment with remarkable fortitude. His appearance does not betray the effect of confinement, and he spends most of the time reading and pacing the confines of his cell.

Documents Held Secret.

It was freely rumored around police headquarters yesterday that detectives have procured new and startling evidence which they intend holding secret until the presentation of the Phagan case before the grand jury. It is said to be in documentary form, and in the shape of certain papers or letters.

Solicitor General Hugh M. Dorsey, detectives from headquarters and members of the solicitor's staff held secret conference in Dorsey's office in the Thrower building last night. They were closeted for several hours after 6 o'clock.

Although no one who was present would talk, the report is that the consultation was for the purpose of preparing the evidence at hand so that it can effectively be submitted to the grand jury, before which the mystery will go some time later next week.

Mr. Dorsey announced Thursday that in the event a bill of indictment was returned against Frank or the negro, Newt Lee, or against both, the case would not go to trial before the last of June. This sets at rest a general impression that the case would be rushed to trial.

An interesting witness who has been summoned before the solicitor is J. Williams, ex-policeman and operator of a livery stable at 35 South Forsyth street, only a few doors distant from the pencil plant. Williams has not yet made his statement, but will probably be called to the solicitor's office some time today.

The new witness was in the basement of the factory early Sunday morning. He had come from his establishment shortly after it had been made known that a girl's body had been discovered in the cellar. It was he who lay in the spot in which the murdered girl was found while the negro night watchman went through the plantomime of the discovery.

Will Describe Frank's Conduct.

Williams was also in the place upon Frank's arrival, and will be asked by Mr. Dorsey to testify to his observance of Frank's conduct, whether or not the superintendent was nervous or agitated. He also will be questioned as to whether or not he witnessed Frank's failure to replace the broken staple, and, on account of reported nervousness, turn the hammer and staple over to his assistant, Mr. Darley.

NO WARLIKE MOVES BY UNITED STATES

discussing the situation with President Wilson. It is understood, however, that Mr. Moore was able to throw but little light upon Governor Johnson's intentions when he saw the ambassador later. Viscount Chinda's calls gave rise to the impression in official circles that Japan is not inclined to delay pushing her protest, and that another formal communication probably will be forthcoming as soon as the California bill actually is signed.

Wilson Framing a Reply.

Meanwhile, President Wilson, in a preliminary way, at least, has been discussing with Acting Secretary Moore the course to be pursued in framing a reply to the original protest. This subject will come before the cabinet meeting tomorrow, but the answer may not be immediate, unless the Japanese government is insistent.

On the contrary, it is known that the president is disposed to proceed with as much deliberation as diplomatic usage will permit.

Though Governor Johnson apparently made a stronger impression upon the administration by his presentment of various acts and proposed legislation of a national character, tending to commit the government to a general policy of discrimination against the yellow race, it is declared that he has injected no new suggestion into the controversy, so the officials of the state department have only to consider points already made in continuing diplomatic negotiations.

It has developed that the Japanese government has not suggested the invocatio nof The Hague tribunal as a means of settling the issue, whence the conclusion is drawn here that Japan does not by any means regard the resources of diplomacy as having been exhausted to the point where arbitration is the only resort.

Satisfactory Solution Expected.

Press dispatches from Tokio conveying the opinion of high Japanese officials that a permanent and satisfactory settlement of the difficulty is confidently expected in that capital, were welcomed in official circles here today. This was taken to mean that the negotiations are at least assured of peaceful and orderly progression and that is little likelihood of an event that there is little likelihood of an evolution of feeling that might result in a rupture of diplomatic relations.

Administration officials believe that the Japanese government is now quite well aware of two important facts:.

First, that the United States government has honestly exerted itself to the extent of its resources to prevent the enactment of the legislation, and, secondly, that in making treaties with the United States a nation is expected to have in mind the respective functions of national and state government under our dual system, and not to expect the administration to undertake to pass beyond the constitutional limitations in its dealing with the states.

JAPANESE RADICALS ENRAGED AND CALL FOR MASS MEETING

Tokio, May 16.—The announcement that Governor Johnson, of California, will sign the alien-land ownership bill has again aroused the radicals, some of whom describe the legislation as inhuman and oppressive and ask if the spirit represented by Lincoln, Washington, Garrison and Statue of Liberty no longer exists.

Several radical parliamentarians called a mass meeting for tomorrow, but the more responsible element among the Japanese declare they will not attend, adding that they declare they place complete confidence in the government to settle the controversy amicably and honorably. They decry any agitation which might prove embarrassing.

The foreign office is optimistic as to the outcome of the controvers. In reply to an inquiry this morning a high official said:

"Negotiations between Japan and the United States are progressing satisfactorily. We expect to reach a friendly and permanent solution of the difficulty."

WILSON TO STAND FOR NO COMPROMISE

been closed when the measure passed the house. He is understood to regard the effort to obtain hearings as a filibustering device.

Rumors of Concession.

The correspondents were about to leave the office when the president asked if it were true that reports were being circulated of compromises on the wool and sugar schedules. All day there had been rumors that concessions of some kind would be made on the principal schedules in order to satisfy opposition in the senate. The president had been told by friends that in some sources there was an expectation that a duty would be put on raw wool, or that the provision for free sugar after years would be dropped. It was to counteract these statements that he took occasion to make his position clear. Of course, it is expected at the white house that there will be minor changes in the bill made by the finance committee, certain equalizations and corrections which have been approved by house leaders since the bill left their hands but in the principal schedules, such as wool and sugar the president is determined that there shall be no change if he can prevent. There were even intimations that he might veto a bill that came from the senate with amendments on wool or sugar.

The agreement in the senate was for a vote at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon on the motion to refer the Underwood bill to the finance committee and the Penrose-La Follette amendment for public hearings. Republican leaders accepted this proposal from Chairman Simmons, after Senator Stone had already attempted to force an immediate vote by moving to lay all amendments to Simmons' motion on the table. This he withdrew at Senator Simmons' request.

Hot Debate Over Sugar.

The sugar schedule was again the subject of enlivened debate. Senator Ransdell, of Louisiana, answering the claim of Senator James, of Kentucky, that the democratic platform warned Louisiana to expect free sugar. Mr. Ransdell submitted records in an effort to show that the party was not committed to free sugar.

The senate resumed consideration of the tariff late in the day.

Senator Thomas, of Colorado, discussed threats of business depression if the Underwood bill became a law. "No panic in the history of this country was ever caused by an attempt to revise the tariff," he said.

The senator aroused the republican side by reading a magazine article which alleged that the panic of 1893 was manufactured by banking interests which desired the repeal of the Sherman silver purchase act. According to the senator, circulars were sent out from New York to banks demanding that they retire a part of their circulation and call a large part of their loans, with the object of forcing congress to pass this legislation. Senators Norris and Root expressed surprise that such a circular had been sent out, and asked if it were signed.

"I don't give any name because none appeared here, said Senator Thomas, in reply to Mr. Root. "The senator knows, perhaps, better than I do, where it came from."

Root Expressed Surprise.

Senator Root said he was surprised that the senator from Colorado should make such "absurd" charges in the senate based upon a communication apparently unsigned.

"The senator from Colorado doesn't have to take instructions from the senator from New York or anyone else," said Senator Thomas. "He is responsible to the people of his own state. He does not care whether the senator thinks this is absurd or not."

Senator Page offered to give $50 for the name of any Vermont banker who received this circular, declaring he was in a position to affirm that no banker in Vermont had ever seen it.

Senator Smoot said he could say the same thing of the bankers of Utah.

Senator Lane came to the assistance of his democratic colleague by stating that he did know a banker who had received such a communication. He refused to give his name.

As a result of this circular, Senator Thomas said, banks did retire circulation, and did call money loans and laid the basis for the panic.

Senator Smoot quoted figures from the statistical abstract showing that circulation of national bank notes had increased steadily from 1891 to 1898. Mr. Thomas declared that the panic of 1907 had been manufactured by the Standard Oil company or allied interests to get through the Tennessee Coal and Iron "deal" and to embarrass the president of the United States.

Fighting Free Sugar.

Senator Ransdell resumed his argument against free sugar by advancing the view that the people of Louisiana did not rely upon that part of the democratic platform praising the deeds of the democratic congress which passed a free sugar bill—but upon the "business plank" which stated that no legitimate industry should be destroyed. He quoted at length from campaign speeches of President Wilson and maintained that in no speech had the president proposed free sugar.

The senator read a letter prepared by Representative Broussard, a senator-elect from Louisiana, who was a member of the subcommittee of eleven of the platform committee at Baltimore, contending that the platform never indorsed the Underwood free sugar bill of the last congress, nor the other bills indorsed it.

"Nowhere in that declaration (the platform)," Mr. Broussard wrote, "can there be found any intimation that the Underwood free sugar bill of the house met with either the approval of the subcommittee of eleven or of the committee on platform and resolutions, acting as a whole or of the convention itself, as contended by the senator from Kentucky." Mr. Broussard pointed out that the democratic convention gave the Underwood free sugar bill a hearing, after which "not a single senator, democrat, republican or progressive, approved it."

Not an Oversight.

At Baltimore he wrote:

"It must appear to every one, and, in fact, to every intelligent man, that with the chairman of the convention, the senator from Kentucky, pleading to the body over which he presided for free sugar, and with the sugar trust, by telegrams, imploring the convention to declare for free sugar, it was not an oversight on the part of either subcommittee of eleven or the full committee on platforms and resolutions or the convention that it was not written in the platform, as the senator from Kentucky now attempts to read it, that the democratic party stood or stands for free sugar. On the contrary, this action was the deliberate conclusion that the democratic party stood against the Underwood free sugar bill and in favor of a duty on sugar."

The Louisiana senator concluded with a personal appeal to his colleagues "in God's name not to vote for free sugar and put the Louisiana industry to death."

Senator Williams asked why it was that Mr. Ransdell and his colleagues resisted just as obstinately in the past any reduction in the duty on sugar as they now resist free sugar, and why they voted last year against a 33 per cent reduction, which every Louisiana planter now admits he could stand.

"If this senate," Senator Williams asked, "should put a 50 per cent reduction on sugar instead of the proposed rate, with free sugar in three years, which would you prefer?"

Senator Ransdell said he believed his people would prefer the proposed rate because it would be quick death, whereas the other reduction would be slow death.

FEDERAL COURT CLERK FATHER OF FINE BOY

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Hood, of 37 Dunn street, West End, used both long-distance telephone and telegraph wires lavishly last night to tell relatives and old friends in Philadelphia, Trenton and Camden, N. While Mr. Hood, who is a deputy clerk in the United States district court clerk's office, has been a resident of Atlanta but two or three years, he and Mrs. Hood have made many friends in the city who will extend hearty congratulations.

Georgia Girl in Paris.

The talent of another Georgia girl has been recognized by no less an authority than Jean de Reszke, the great tenor and teacher, who has accepted for a pupil Miss Cynthia Farle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Farle, Jr., of Savannah, and granddaughter of the late Dr. J. D. Turner, of Atlanta.

Miss Farle went to Europe with her parents and after a hearing by de Reszke in Paris he pleased both by the quality of her voice and the method by which she had been trained. He predicted her readiness for concert work in three years, and she decided to remain under his instruction. With several other southern girl students she will make her home with a chaperone in an apartment in Paris. She is now in England for gala week at Oxford and the Georgia students there have planned delightful entertainment for her party.

Mrs. C. A. Wood was hostess at a pretty luncheon today at the Georgian Terrace, the occasion a compliment to Miss Helen Dargan and her guest, Miss Ruth Wilson, of New York.

The party of twelve were seated at a handsomely appointed circular table in the rose dining room, its centerpiece a plateau of Killarney roses and lilies of the valley. The place cards were girls' heads, and all the color detail was in pink.

Mrs. Wood was gowned in gray chiffon, and her becoming hat was black and white, with paradise aigrettes. Miss Wilson wore foliage green brocade crepe and a smart hat in all-black. Mrs. Milton Dargan wore amethyst embroidered crepe, and her hat was trimmed with French flowers in shades of amethyst. Miss Dargan wore black charmeuse, and her black tulle hat was trimmed with hand-painted flowers.

Among the young women invited to meet Miss Wilson, Miss Katherine Ellis was a charming figure. Her three-piece suit was of white ratine, embroidered, and her white chip hat with mustard-colored velvet crown, was wreathed with cream roses. Miss Jennie D. Harris wore black satin, and her pretty face was framed with the pale pink roses which trimmed her black braid hat. Miss Sarah Rawson wore rose pink ratine, and her black hat was trimmed with a black tulle ruche and roses. Miss Annie Lee McKenzie wore a white serge tailored gown, with a Panama hat.

Miss Marjorie Brown wore blue silk crepe, with a becoming white hat. Miss Harriett Calhoun wore a flowered crepe, with a picture hat in pink Miss Mary Helen Moody was gowned in blue, and her white braid hat was trimmed with roses.

FIVE POSTOFFICES IN AUGUSTA DISTRICT ROBBED WITHIN WEEK

Augusta, Ga., May 15.—The robbery of the postoffice in North Augusta, S. C., Wednesday night made the fifth robbery of small postoffices in the Augusta district within a week. It is impossible to tell how great the loss is.

North Augusta, S. C.; Greenscut, Ga., and Graniteville, Langley and Barr, S. C., offices have been robbed within the past two days.

Waynesboro, Ga., May 15.—(Special.)—The postoffice and several stores were entered at Greenout early this morning by yeggmen. The safe of the postoffice was dynamited and $106 in stamps and papers were taken. The store was entered in the rear and a sledge hammer and coal chisel taken from a blacksmith shop were used in breaking the safe so it could be blown up.

Some of the residents were awakened by the explosion. The robbers were traced in the direction of Augusta and the iron box and papers were found that had been taken from the safe about 1¼ miles toward Augusta. Two men who were seen in that neighborhood last night, Lee Alexander and Ralph McCall, have been arrested in Augusta. The local authorities were called on and made every effort to track the robbers, but were unsuccessful.

MRS. LANIER COLLAPSES AND SOBS IN COURTROOM

Waycross, Ga., May 15.—Owing to the illness of John S. Walker, one of the attorneys for Mrs. W. C. Lanier, her case was not taken up in superior court today and it is probable it will be tried at a special term of court to be held during the summer.

Mrs. Lanier was in court when the case was called and was apparently unmoved, but shortly after court was called to order she collapsed and her sobs could be heard continuously throughout the crowded court room. Her mother was unable to attend the morning session of court, but a physician informed the court she was able to be present for the afternoon session. Judge Parker did not pass sentence on the convicted husband, but will do so tomorrow just before court adjourns.

BRIDGE OVER OGEECHEE NOW READY FOR USE

Statesboro, Ga., May 15.—(Special.) There is much interest among the automobile owners of Statesboro and Bulloch county, as well as on the opposite side of the Ogeechee river in the vicinity of Rocky Ford, in the announcement that the steel bridge, which has been in course of construction for several months, is completed, and ready to be turned over to the county authorities of Screven and Bulloch counties.

Contractor Austin was in Statesboro yesterday afternoon, and gladdened the hearts of the automobilists who have been anxiously awaiting the completion of the bridge with this announcement. He notified Ordinary Cone that the bridge would be ready to be turned over to the authorities Friday, and it has been announced by Judge Cone that he and the county commissioners would visit the bridge on that day. Not only will the mammoth steel structure be visited by the county authorities, but there is general disposition among the local automobilists to also be on hand when the bridge is finally accepted, and it is certain that the road from here to the Rocky Ford crossing will be lined with automobiles Friday.

GEORGIA SCHOOL CHILDREN WORKING FOR WOMAN'S EDITION

Mrs. Lyman J. Amsden, Mrs. Lindsay Johnson and Mrs. Hugh Willet are receiving enthusiastic letters from many of the club women who are interesting the clubs of their districts in the circulation contest for the Library of Southern Literature.

These books are being offered by the club women for the school in north Georgia and the school in south Georgia securing the greatest number of advance subscriptions to the Woman's Edition of The Constitution, to be published June 4.

Among the first schools to enter the contest are those of Fitzgerald. Mrs. Lon Dickey, president of the Woman's club, of Fitzgerald, has notified Mrs. Amsden, president of the circulation committee, that the plan has been decided there for the work of the school children.

Schools desiring to enter the contest are requested to send their names and the names and addresses of their subscribers to the Woman's Club Edition, Constitution Circulation Contest, Atlanta, Ga. The conditions of the contest follow:

The offer is open to all grammar schools, high schools, colleges, private schools in the state.

One set will be awarded to the school in south Georgia selling the greatest number of advance copies of the Woman's Club Edition of The Atlanta Constitution, to be published June 4, and the other set to the school in north Georgia making the most sales. The dividing line used by the Methodist church in separating the state into north and south Georgia.

Schools are requested to begin this work at once, as the time is short. Collect 10 cents for each copy of the paper sold, make lists of names and full address of the persons to whom the paper should be sent on the day of its publication, and forward names, with money, to the Woman's Club Edition of Atlanta Constitution, Circulation Contest, Atlanta, Ga. The name of the school should be given on each list, in order that all may receive proper credit. The contest will close June 1.

All schools should notify Woman's Edition Circulation Department promptly upon entering the contest, and the names and money should be forwarded without delay. The list will all be carefully filed and the prizes awarded at the earliest possible date.

All club women are urged to call attention to this announcement, both to the teachers and pupils of the schools, and to create interest wherever possible.

COUNCIL MAY BUY THE MOSELEY ESTATE FOR PARK PURPOSES

A petition signed by more than 1,000 residents of the west side urging that the city purchase the Moseley estate, comprising thirty-eight acres in the Battle Hill section, for park purposes will be offered in council Monday.

The petition will have the indorsement of President J. O. Cochran, of the park board, and the members of the first and seventh wards in the general council. Councilman W. G. Humphrey, chairman of the finance committee of the general council, and members of the committee have been asked to make an inspection of the property.

In addition to its large acreage and natural beauty, the estate has a handsome colonial house on it. The city has been offered the property for $45,000. President Cochran, of the park board, and General Manager Dan Carey are both enthusiastic over the prospect of getting the property for park purposes. The property is on the site of the famous battlefield of Ezra church, and many of the old fortifications are still there. There are two lakes, or rather dams where the lakes can be made simply by clearing the undergrowth and turning the water in.

The property is a handsomely wooded tract, with flowers, shrubbery and driveways well laid off.

Alderman J. H. Harwell, of the first ward, who is a member of the finance committee, says he will favor the purchase of the property when the matter reaches the finance committee. He believes the tract is one of the best adapted for park purposes in Atlanta, and can be beautified to a still greater extent at little cost.

Strong pressure is being brought to bear on council and the finance committee to select the site for a recreation place for the people of the west side.

The Seventh Ward Improvement association is solidly behind the project.

LARGER SUM WANTED BY DR. TOEPEL FOR PHYSICAL CULTURE

When the board of education meets on May 28 Dr. Theodore Toepel will submit a statement in which he will urge a larger appropriation for the maintenance of the physical culture department of the public schools.

He will show that in 1899 the school roll was 13,637, and in 1905 the enrollment was 14,570, which was an increase of 1933, or 90 per cent. The first and seventh wards in the general council. New York, May 15.—The United States sent a new ambassador to the Court of St. James today, when Walter Hines Page sailed for his post in London.

ENTERTAINMENT FUND DESIRED BY ASHLEY

Councilman Thinks City Should Give $1,000 for Entertaining Visiting City Officials.

Councilman Claude L. Ashley, of the fourth ward, is opposed to the city playing the part of the "piker" when city officials come to Atlanta on strictly business visits.

When council meets Monday afternoon Councilman Ashley will offer a resolution in council authorizing the appropriation of $1,000 in the June finance sheet to be used as a fund to pay the expenses of the city officials for entertaining visiting officials. The resolution will go to the finance committee, and according to expressions from a majority of the members, it will be adopted with the chances of the amount being cut down to $800, very slim.

Councilman Ashley's resolution was inspired by the visit recently of nine aldermen and two commissioners from the progressive little city of Orange, N. J., who came to Atlanta to make an inspection of the sewage disposal plants. Captain Clayton and Commissioner W. A. Davis, of the water board, entertained the party at their own expense. Councilman Ashley contends that it is a hardship on the officials of the city to spend their own money for entertainment purposes. He says the city gets the benefit of the money spent and should pay the bills.

Alderman Van Dyke Favors Plan.

Alderman Arthur Van Dyke says he will support the Ashley resolution in council and will go before the finance committee if necessary.

"Let me say right here that it is not proper for the city to play the piker when officials of other cities come here." Alderman Van Dyke said. "Whenever Atlanta has ever sent officials they were entertained in great style.

"I understand that two of our city officials graciously paid the bills for the last entertainment. That is not right. The city should have a fund, and I am going to join Councilman Ashley if he has a fight to get the money."

The resolution will go to the finance committee. It will provide that the money be apportioned to the mayor's contingent fund.

FINEST BUCK ELK IN AMERICA GIVEN TO GRANT PARK ZOO

Atlanta's zoo in Grant park is now the home of the largest and finest specimen of buck elk in the United States, according to Joe O. Cochran, president of the park board.

The elk was added to the Grant park family Thursday morning. The stately creature is a gift from James S. Floyd, vice president of the Atlanta National bank. Mr. Floyd made the tender of the animal to President Cochran Wednesday morning, and the park president lost no time in anexing it.

Zookeeper Boyd, who is one of the most expert men in the United States, says the buck is a perfect specimen.

"The park board is proud of our new boarder at the zoo," President Cochran said. "We want other folks in Atlanta to take an interest in the zoo."

ANNUAL FREE CLINIC BY MEDICAL COLLEGE

Augusta, Ga., May 15.—(Special.)—Plans providing for the establishment of an annual free clinic to be held for one week following the close of the Medical College of Georgia, under the supervision of the Alumni association of that institution, were prepared by the executive committee of the association, were unanimously adopted at a meeting of the Alumni association held yesterday for that purpose.

Practically a post-graduate course in general medicine and surgery is what supporters of the program claim it will amount to. Radically different from the usual post-graduate clinical courses is this plan, according to speeches made in its advocacy, in that the members of the association will take an active part in the clinic and not be mere onlookers.

This is spoken of as being in the nature of an innovation for an American medical college by local members of the profession.

Give the Kiddies Lots of Sweets

Divinity Fudge

Part 1.—3-4 cup Red Velva Syrup, 1 oz. chocolate, 1-2 cup water, 3 cups sugar, 1 teaspoonful almond extract.

Part 2.—1 cup sugar, 1-2 cup water, whites of 3 eggs, 1 cup chopped nut meats, 1 teaspoonful vanilla extract.

Boil part one until a little hardens in cold water. Boil part two (without egg whites, yeis and extract) until it forms a soft ball when tried in cold water; remove from fire and pour gradually into stiffly beaten whites of eggs, beating all the time. Then beat it into part one. Now beat the mixture for 20 minutes, add nuts and vanilla extract and pour into buttered tins or plates. Cool and cut in squares. The chocolate may be omitted.

That old notion of sweets disagreeing with children is all wrong. The best and biggest physicians say, "Eat sweets, your body needs them." They say that when your palate craves candy, satisfy the desire, because some hungry tissue requires it—but you ought to make the candy you give the kiddies yourself, and you ought to make it with in the red can, because it's the very best syrup for candy-making that your money can buy. It gives a real tang to candy that you can't get with any other syrup—and the very first can of Velva you use will prove that what we say about it is so. It's just fine for cakes, too, and other baking. Yes, buy Velva in the clean, sanitary can. Buy it often and give the kiddies sweets. You can get Velva in the green cans, too, at your grocer's if you prefer it.

Use Cottolene for cooking

When you shorten or fry your food with butter it is needless extravagance. Butter is too expensive for use anywhere but on your table. If butter were really better, would produce better results in cooking, you would be justified in using it, but it won't. Cottolene is fully the equal of butter for shortening; it is better for frying. It makes food rich, but not greasy, because it heats to a higher temperature than lard or butter, and cooks so quickly that the fat has no chance to "soak in." Cottolene is more healthful than lard, and you only need to use two-thirds as much as you would of either butter or lard.

When you stop to consider that the price of Cottolene is no more than the price of lard you can readily figure out what a saving its use in your kitchen means.

Flagman Killed in Wreck Had Come Here to Marry

With the incongruity that always seems to go hand in hand with the doings of the little blind love god, there is interwoven into the tragedy of Wednesday night when two men were killed when an unattached engine of the Seaboard Air Line turned turtle as it was rounding a curve near Rice's station, a romance that is as startling in its beauty as the accident was in its horror.

When J. T. Allen, the 24-year-old flagman who was scalded to death, came to Atlanta he had a motive other than the position offered him. The motive was a pretty, golden-haired stenographer, Miss Irene Stanley, of 66 Houston street, whom he had met on former visits to the city.

He went to the boarding house where she lives, and it was not long before the mutual attachment between them caused a question to be asked—a question that brought an answer in the affirmative.

That was two weeks ago. That night, drunk with elation, Allen wired to his father, not that he was engaged, but that he had actually been married. The father telegraphed back his congratulations and blessing from Gibsland, La., accepting the news in good faith, as a matter of course.

The happy couple took the answer as a good joke, and thought no more of it.

But yesterday, when the gray-haired father received the news of his son's death, he telegraphed here for his son's "wife" to accompany the remains back to Louisiana.

Miss Stanley was at the undertaker's establishment when the wire was received. Silently it was handed to her to read. As she scanned it with her eyes, she fell, sobbing, to the floor.

"Oh, God, I wish it were true! I wish it were true. He wanted to marry me right away, but I wouldn't let him, and now we can't."

A few minutes later she summoned up courage to send word back to the father that they had never married, and that she had no right to come to his home.

Fair Reporters Tackle Mayor And Will Write Score of Stories

"Uncle Jim" Woodward, Atlanta's mayor, is not the lugubrious person many people believe him to be.

Quite to the contrary, "Uncle Jim" has a fine sense of humor. This he made apparent Thursday morning when Mrs. Dudley Cowles Mrs. Ida Howell Kramer and Mrs. Ramson Wright, representing The Constitution's Woman's Edition, interviewed his honor on "Why Women Should Vote," or rather why women should not. The mayor has decided ideas against suffrage.

"Our southern women don't want the ballot," Mayor Woodward told them. "They just think they want it; they want it because the men folks don't want them to have it. Give it to them and they'll discard the privilege just as soon as the novelty wears off."

"But suppose the women of the south want the ballot, and sincerely wish to cherish and preserve it?" he was asked.

"Then, I suppose they'll get it," he replied.

The mayor said lots of other things. He spoke interestingly of the need of woman's influence in civic work, and that led to another subject.

Coud Women Run City?

"Don't you think women could run the government of Atlanta?" was shot at him.

"Well, I don't reckon they could run it much worse than it has been run," he sent back right hot from the bat.

The mayor spoke on city finances, health and other subjects. He threw a lot of humor and pathos into the interview, and left Walter Taylor, the city clerk, with little material for an interview.

The new city hall reporters interviewed Dr. Claude Smith, city bacteriologist, on "The Pesky Fly." They cornered Walter Taylor in his office and forced from his willing lips stories that are not stories, but which he palmed off as brand-new.

It wouldn't do, really, to print at this time the scoops gathered by the city hall reporters for the Woman's Edition. They are all great stories. The Woman's Edition reporters not only interviewed the mayor, but made him interview himself on "How It Feels to Be Interviewed by Women." This will be one of the big features of the city hall page of the edition.

Sob Stories Galore.

There will be sob stories galore. Mrs. Cowles interviewed a poor old lady that is seeking compensation from the city for damage to her property. The story the old lady told will be an appealing good feature.

"A Woman's Impressions of Politics" will be a strong article.

Mrs. Howell is going to write Mayor Woodward's expressions on suffrage.

Even Alderman Arthur Van Dyke's famous dog-muzzling ordinance which the mayor has vetoed, will make a feature story. Mrs. Cowles will write it.

Mrs. Wright will write the story of Dr. Smith's campaign against the pesky fly. It will be one of the newsiest stories out of the hall.

LAYMEN WHO SMOKE HAVE NO RIGHT TO FORBID MINISTERS

"Too many Presbyterians are guilty of smoking themselves to ever require their ministers to lay aside the weed," said William Hodgson, a wealthy manufacturer of Coatesville, Pa., and a commissioner from the Northern assembly, in regard to abstaining from tobacco by the ministers of this denomination.

"Look around the hotel lobby and notice how many Presbyterians are enjoying the weed," he said.

Mr. Ridgeway is not a user of tobacco, but he holds that ministers are human beings. "I think it would be a good thing if ministers would not smoke," he said. "I know if I were one I would not, for such men have much influence over the young. Yet, as I say, it is a personal habit, over which I do not think we should exercise any power."

GEORGIA ALUMNI SEEK LIST OF MATRICULATES

Harrison Jones, chairman of the executive committee of the Alumni Society of the University of Georgia to take steps to further the organization of the alumni bureau, has started a campaign to raise a fund among the graduates of the university to sustain the bureau.

It is estimated that $2,500 will be needed to start the work. Chairman Jones, who is a member of the class of 1907, pledged $200 from the class when the resolution suggesting the bureau was adopted by the society in 1912. Voluntary subscriptions to the extent of $400 have already been received. The committee is asking each of the 125 members of the alumni to subscribe $20 each to the fund.

The object of the bureau is to trace the addresses and occupations of 4,000 living alumni and matriculates of the University of Georgia. There is a strong demand for an alumnate list, and it is felt that it is important to the state and to the alumni to have an organization for fostering the feeling of fellowship throughout the state.

The committee appointed to perfect the organization is composed of Harrison Jones, Atlanta, chairman; Thos M. Strahan, Athens; A. Pratt Adams, Savannah; George T. Jackson, Augusta, and Thomas W. Connally, Atlanta.

CONVENTION EXPENSES RETURNED IN COLUMBUS

Columbus, Ga., May 15.—(Special.)—A rather remarkable aftermath to the Laymen's Missionary Movement convention, held recently in Columbus, is that all subscriptions to the entertainment and general expense fund of the convention are now being returned to those who donated the money.

This is probably the first time in the history of a convention in Columbus, at least a convention of this size, that money subscribed for the occasion was refunded to the public.

It seems that the expenses of the convention were fully met by registration fees. All who attended registered, the registration fee being $1. Those who registered received tickets to the Wildwood banquet, that was the spectacular feature of the convention. One thousand men registered. Out of the $1,000 thus raised, the convention expenses were paid in full.

Thos who subscribed to the general convention fund are now receiving checks in refund of their subscriptions, and the money is all the more welcome as it was wholly unexpected.

REVISION OF TARIFF DISCUSSED BY ARTISTS

Washington, May 15.—Revision of existing stringent tariff regulations that prevent the creations of American artists working and studying abroad from entering this country for display was urged today at the afternoon session of the convention of the American Federation of Arts.

The subject is to come up for further discussion and action at the session tomorrow.

Tariff revision was brought to the attention of the convention by Thomas Wood Stevens, of the Art institute of Chicago, in discussing the problems and needs of the small museums. He declared that one of the reasons why the small museum failed to flourish was the lack of proper exhibits. This, he added, was because many of the American artists working abroad preferred not to encounter the immense amount of red tape to be unwound of shipping their works home for exhibition purposes. In the Underwood tariff now pending, works of arts are placed on the free list.

At the morning session President Robert DeForest outlined the plans for a national clearing house for information regarding every branch of art. He put this in the form of a suggestion for the convention to work.

The convention closes tomorrow with a reception and garden party given at the white house by the president and Mrs. Wilson. They were made honorary members of the federation.

CAPITAL CITY CLUB TO LEASE BROOKHAVEN

Committee Decides on Deal, With Option of Purchase at $100,000.

The Capital City club agreed yesterday afternoon to lease the Brookhaven club property on Peachtree road for a term of one year with the privilege of renewal for two years at the expiration, and with the option to buy the property for $100,000 at the expiration of the three years.

The deal will be formally closed within a few days, only several minor details regarding sewerage and water now being in the way.

The final agreement to close the deal was reached at a meeting of a special committee of the Capital City club, composed of four members from the governing board and four members at large, who were as follows:

Robert F. Maddox, chairman; Edward H. Inman, John E. Murphy, Jack J. Spalding, Dr. W. S. Elkin, P. S. Arkwright, Madison Bell and W. G. Humphries.

The Brookhaven club property will be leased from the Brookhaven estates which recently bid the property in at legal sale. The property included in the deal is the 150 acres of the club grounds, including the club house with its fixtures and furnishings, the golf course, tennis courts, lake and all improvements.

The Capital City club will pay a rental of $1,000 per month for the property. The term of the lease was limited to one year for the purpose of experiment, and, according to Mr. Maddox, if the country club feature, for which the Brookhaven property is being leased, proves a success, the club will undoubtedly exercise its privilege of extending the lease. The lessee pays the taxes and insurance on the property.

In the event of the ultimate purchase of the property the $100,000 purchase price is to be paid in 5 per cent bonds.

Deal to Close at Once.

Mr. Maddox said last night that these terms are agreeable to the Brookhaven estates and that there is no doubt of the deal's being closed at once.

This means that the Capital City club will take possession of the Brookhaven club property June 1, and that from that date the Brookhaven club will cease to be. The Brookhaven club property will then go under the name of the Capital City club, just as the club property is in the city.

The terms of the deal include no membership features as were included in the original proposition. The members of the Capital City club will have all the privileges of the country club feature immediately upon the transfer of the property. No members of the Brookhaven club will be transferred to the Capital City club by virtue of the lease or purchase of the Brookhaven property.

The acquisition of the Brookhaven country club feature will place the Capital City club on a scale of magnificence equalled by no other such institution in the south.

Preparations for such expansion were made at the recent annual meeting of the club, when it was voted to enlarge the membership of the club from 700 to 800. Initiation fees were reduced at that time from $100 to $50 for a period of 90 days. Already the club has in the neighborhood of 100 applications for membership, and it appears that at the expiration of the 90 days the club will have a long waiting list in addition to the admittance of an extra hundred members.

NO FOUL PLAY FOUND IN ENGINEER'S DEATH

The suspicion that Engineer R. B. Brooks, who was killed Wednesday night in the Seaboard Air Line wreck near Rice's station had met with foul play, was found to be without grounds at post-mortem investigation conducted by Dr. Frank L. Eskridge Thursday afternoon.

The post-mortem was the result of rumors circulated to the effect that Brooks had been stabbed before the wreck occurred. Dr. Eskridge stated that he found no wounds of such a nature as could not have been caused by the wreck.

The funeral of the engineer will be held at the chapel at the undertaking establishment of Greenberg & Bond at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Interment will be at Atlanta Park cemetery.

Mr. Brooks, who was 22 years old, was one of the youngest engineers on the road. He was born in Cedartown, Ga. He is survived by his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Brooks; three brothers, Harry, Joe and Cecil Brooks, and two sisters, Mrs. R. V. Zimmerman and Miss Annie Brooks.

The body of J. T. Allen, the flagman who was also killed, was sent to his fathers' home in Gisland, La., yesterday afternoon.

Today's Beauty Recipes

By Mme. D'Mille.

"Women detest superfluous hair on the face and forearms because it gives them a masculine appearance and detracts from true feminine charm. To remove superfluous hair cover the surface with a paste made by mixing a little powdered delatone with water; leave on two minutes, wipe off, wash the skin and the hairs will be gone.

"Aches and pains cause the face to contract and form wrinkles. Mother's Salve, which can be bought in prepared form in any neighborhood, gives almost instant relief from pains and aches in back, or joints, sore muscles, rheumatism and neuralgia.

"The springtime is the season of youth, when every girl desires to look her very best. For a complexion of lilies and roses, apply each morning a solution made by dissolving an original package of matrotone in a half pint of witch hasel. It corrects blotchy, pimply and sallow complexions and leaves the skin smooth, white, soft and lovely.

"A shampoo that purely washes the head is not sufficient. The parasites that cause falling, dull, faded and brittle hair must be removed. Mother's Shampoo does this and leaves the scalp in a condition to encourage the growth of hair. It prevents baldness and makes the hair glossy, fluffy and fine."

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

Miss Duncan, of Oklahoma, Makes Few Plain Statements for Publication in Interest of Women.

Chapel, Okla.—"Please print this letter," writes Mrs. Mollie Duncan, of this place, "as it may reach, and help, some poor suffering woman.

For 17 years, I had been afflicted with womanly troubles, and had tried different treatments, but none of them helped me any. I suffered so much I could hardly bear it.

I had such drawing-down pains, and a pain in my side. Also headache and those awful dizzy spells. I was very weak, and could not be up, at times. I decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I will say I am not sorry that I did for it helped me wonderfully. I feel like an entirely new person. I can wash all day now, and attend to my other household duties, and not feel tired when night comes.

I intend to keep Cardui in the house just as long as I live, for it has done me so much good."

Cardui is the ideal tonic remedy for women. Its ingredients are especially adapted for women's needs. It soothes pain, helps weakness, nervousness, dragging sensations, headache, backache, and other symptoms of womanly trouble.

Cardui is purely vegetable, and has no bad after-effects. Is good for young and old.

Try Cardui.

Today is the all-important day in Georgia baseball history. Georgia must win today to stand a chance. If Tech wins today, she can present Georgia with Saturday's game.

GEORGIA PLAYS TECH HERE TODAY

EDITED BY Dick Jemison

WHIFFS

A Wild Crowd.

THE CROWD that will attend the Georgia-Tech game at Grant field this afternoon promises to be the wildest crowd that has ever attended a college baseball game in this city. Both coheirs expect their rooting to play a prominent part in winning the games. The result tonight will be awaited with interest.

Surprised Him.

HARRY DAVIS is handing out some bouquets to the St. Louis Browns. "The Browns of 1913 do not look like the same club," said Davis. "They are a team of fighters this year and they are never licked until the last man is out in the ninth inning."

Road Trip Ends.

THE LOCALS wind up their road trip with three games with the New Orleans Pelicans, opening a series with Charley Frank's tailenders this afternoon. As the Pelicans are in a horrible slump right now, the Crackers ought to bolster their standing somewhat as the result.

New Vol Hurler.

BRACKENRIDGE, the new twirler of the Nashville Volunteers, has a world of confidence. If he pitches half as well as he believes he will pitch, the Vols will have picked up a mighty valuable twirler.

Shunted Around.

BRIS LORD, former Pelican is being shunted around regularly these days. Starting with the Athletics in the big show, he went to Cleveland, then back to the Athletics and was shunted to the Baltimore International League club this spring. Stallings purchased Release from Dunn's team the other day and he is now playing regularly in their line-up.

Decognized.

THE SCORERS have recognized the "Cincinnati Hit" as promulgated by Ban Johnson. That is the big league scorers have. We hope that the Southern league scorers never will, for while in some instances a player would have beaten the throw to first base, in the majority of cases, when a base runner beats the throw to an advanced base, the batsman could have easily been retired at first had the play been made there. There is no real merit to the new scoring.

More Changes Coming.

THE ACQUISITIONS of Pitcher Dent and Catcher Devoght by the Crackers is only the first of several changes that may be made in the next few days, though the changes will effect only the battery men. However, there is a possibility of a counter player being secured to take George Roh's place as utility man.

Defends Stovall.

CLARK GRIFFITH is one man that hopes that George Stovall will soon be reinstated by the powers that be. "After seeing Ferguson umpire in three games, I urge that you be extremely lenient with Stovall," he is quoted to have written to Ban Johnson.

Changed Now.

THERE WAS a time when the cry "Can't the Brooklyn's beat somebody?" was heard throughout the land. Now it's "Can't somebody beat the Brooklyns." This is a progressive era, after all.

May Be a Red.

"OLE DOC" CRANDALL, the Giants' great relief hurler and pinch hitter, is likely to be sold by McGraw. The Giants' chief has asked waivers on him and it is understood that Joe Tinker, of the Reds, has refused to waive. Crandall pitched regularly for the Reds might prove a consistent winner.

Great Record.

RIVERSIDE'S record this season is nothing short of marvelous. The feat of winning seventeen straight games this season and tying one, in eighteen played, was wonderful in itself, but to score an average of eight runs to the game shows the real strength of the team.

LOCAL GOLFERS PLAY FOR A. L. DUNN CUP

The golfers of the Atlanta Athletic club will qualify Saturday on the East Lake course for play for the A. L. Dunn trophy.

The players will qualify according to their gross scores. Match play in the first flight will be from scratch, handicaps applying in all the others. As many flights as fill will be played.

A handsome booklet is being printed, listing the golf tournaments for the season, and will be issued by the golf committee of the club in a few days.

Jockey Dead.

Baltimore, May 15.—Jockey James Benschotten, injured during the running of the Linstead steeplechase at Pimlico yesterday, died early today. Benschotten, who was riding Sir Cleges, was thrown at the tenth jump. As he attempted to rise he was struck on the head by the hoods of another horse.

Eubanks to Face Corley In Tech-Georgia Battle At Grant Field Today

TODAY'S BATTING ORDER.
TECH.	GEORGIA.
Wooten, cf.	Ginn, lf.
Moore, 3b.	Bowden, rf.
Pitts, 1f.	McWhorter, cf.
F. Montague, 2b.	Hutchens, c.
Pound, lf.	Henderson, 1b.
Amason, 1b.	Covington, ss.
Donaldson, ss.	Harrison, 2b.
Attridge, c.	Corley, p.
Eubanks, p.	Clements, ss.

The above is line-up and the batting order for the first of a two-game series between the University of Georgia and Georgia Tech, which will be played at Grant field this afternoon.

The contest starts at 3:30 o'clock, sharp.

Tickets are on sale downtown at all the Franklin Brothers' stores, and the admission will be 50 cents to all parts of the stands.

Harris Cope, former Sewanee baseball star, and at present coach of the Sewanee athletic teams, has been selected by the coaches, managers and captains of the rival teams to handle the indicator in these two all-important contests.

Harry Harmon, former Georgia star twirler, and Harry Copeland, former Tech star third-sacker, handled the games in Athens, but owing to a slight criticism of their work they refused to handle the contests here, because of their importance.

As will be seen by the above, Coach Cunningham, of Georgia, has changed his batting order for the game today, putting Timeon Bowden, the hard-hitting utility man, in right field in place of Erwin, and batting him in second place in the batting order and dropping Harrison to the place formerly occupied by Erwin.

With these two changes the Georgia line-up is the same as faced the Jackets in Friday's game in Athens, while the Tech line-up is identical.

Tech's line-up will be the same in Saturday's game also, with the exception of the pitchers. Pitts will go in the box for the Jackets in this contest and Malone will play right field, batting in the position that Eubanks occupies in the batting order given above.

To write any dope concerning the probable outcome of these two games is out of the question. Look at the reams and reams of dope that was written in advance of the two games in Athens, and how the Jackets twisted it into all kinds of shapes by stepping in and copping both contests.

Georgia ruled the favorite in advance of these two contests and in view of the way they came out, Tech ought to be the favorite in the games here, but such is not the case.

Tech is more confident than they would be had they lost both games in Athens or even broken even, but as far as being confident that it is just a matter of playing the two games, to mark the Jackets up the winners, far be it.

The Jackets realize that it will be an entirely different team that they will stack up against in the Red and Black on this occasion. None of the over-confidence that marked Georgia's work in the first two games will be present.

Georgia, with her back to the wall, must fight her hardest. It will be a last ditch fight, one that will settle for all time the final ranking of the Red and Black in the southern college championship.

Coach Cunningham is said to have worked wonders with the team during the first four days of this week, giving his attention principally to the fielding end of the game, which has been blamed principally for the downfall of the Red and Black steam roller, which is expected to start rolling again now.

Captain Brannen, of last year's team, has been in Athens for the past few days giving the team batting practice by serving up all the famous slants that he dished out in the box for the Red and Black in past seasons.

At Tech, a week of hard practice has been indulged in. Coach Heisman brought his team to a fine edge in time for the game in Athens last week, and he feared that he would overtrain them if he worked them too strenuously this week.

Just enough work was engaged in to get all the kinks out of their arms, the main practice being batting and bass running. The fielding needed no improvement, as the Jackets have been playing a grand fielding game all season.

Eubanks and Corley, the two hurlers who battled in the first game in Athens last week, will be on the mound again this afternoon, and the Georgia star is confident of his ability to stem the tide of Jacket hits on this occasion.

Tonight at the University club the alumni of the university will have a big rally and if the Red and Black are victorious in the contest this afternoon, there promises to be a most lively session and a big place set for going after Saturday's contest as well.

The student body of the university will be in the city Saturday, with their famous band, and accompanied by half of the city of Athens.

A detail will be sent to Athens from the Tech ball park Friday, to decorate the campus, to keep the students in touch with the game, play by play.

Neither coach would make a statement in advance of the contests. They realize that the dope on their two teams goes astray practically every time that they meet, and it would be folly for them to make any predictions and then have it go astray.

IF INJURED TY COBB WOULD DRAW TEN DOLLARS WEEKLY

Lansing, Mich., May 15.—Should Ty Cobb, world's champion batsman and star player of the Detroit baseball team, be injured while under contract with President Navin, of the Tigers, he would be entitled to only $10 a week compensation, according to information received here.

President Navin had notified the Industrial board of its intention to place all his players under the provisions of the state workman's compensation law.

Cobb is supposed to draw a salary of about $2,000 per month or $500 a week. If injured, he ordinarily would receive his full salary while on the bench. But under the state law, Cobb's pay would not be forthcoming. The law provides that when an employee is disabled he must be paid "an amount equal to one-half his week wage, not to exceed $10 a week."

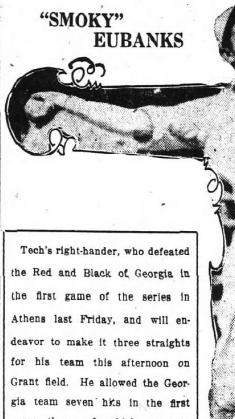
Faces Georgia Team Today



"SMOKY" EUBANKS

Tech's right-hander, who defeated the Red and Black of Georgia in the first game of the series in Athens last Friday, and will endeavor to make it three straights for his team this afternoon on Grant field. He allowed the Georgia team seven hits in the first game, three of which went to Hutchens, the great catcher of the Red and Black. Jacket fans have confidence in Eubanks being able to repeat the dose this afternoon.

"Wallop's" Brilliant Stab Saved Crackers Thursday; Long and Bisland Star

By Herbert Caldwell.

Memphis, Tenn., May 15.—(Special.) Wallie Smith beat Memphis today. The score was: Atlanta 6, to Memphis 4.

It was Smith's brilliant stab at Ward's hard hit in the ninth that brought about a double play, and the resultant bursting of a golden opportunity to score.

Musser, who was wild, passed Love as a starter. Ward hit a wicked one down the third base line. Smith snapped it and whizzed the ball to Alpermann, who, in turn, whipped it to Agler, retiring the batsman at first, also; Abstein followed with a single, and Merritt walked, but Butler ended the round with an infield roller.

Had it not been for Smith's stop, the chances are the Memphii would have made off with the fourth straight game of the series.

Crackers Deserved Win.

Atlanta deserved to win. They outhit the locals and played smart baseball.

Kroh was both good and bad. Several times he retired the final sticker via the strikeout route with the bases full, and such occasion following a prolonged batting rally.

Bisland and Long were the hitting stars. Each garnered three safeties, including extra base hits. Long's first blow going for two sacks, and Bisland's sixth-inning smash going to the back fence for three bases.

Double by Long and Bailey netted the visitors one in the first.

A single by Smith, his ninth consecutive safety, together with a sacrifice and a hit by Graham increased the score one run in the second.

After going runless in the third, Atlanta made three in the fourth. Musser hit and reached Long; Bailey walked and Alpermann cleaned up with a long triple. On welchonce's high fly Whitey scored. Smith stuck his leg in front of a pitch and walked to first. Bisland singled and Agler walked, with the bases filled; Graham fanned the atmosphere.

In the sixth the last score was made. Welchonce singled and Bisland tore off a single. Thereafter not a man reached second base.

In the ninth Graham was put out on the park order addressing Umpire Kerin in too vigorous a manner. A five-dollar fine was also stung upon Graham. It was the longest drawn-out game played here in some time, two hours and forty minutes being used up.

According to advices from Manager Griffith in town the big right-hander will leave for the southern city at once. The foxy one says that the sale is under optional agreement as Dent is considered too promising to release outright.

Belly Confirms It.

Memphis, Tenn., May 15.—(Special.) Just before taking the train for New Orleans tonight, Manager Billy Smith, of the Atlanta team, confirmed the report that Catcher Allan Belly that Pitcher Dent had been purchased.

He said that he had received a wire from Clark Griffith stating that the right-hander would leave Detroit tonight, and would join the Crackers in New Orleans.

Manager Smith also stated that Catcher Devoght, purchased from Boston, had refused to come south, and he thought the deal was now off.

CRACKERS CLOSE TRIP WITH PELS

Open Up Three-Game Series in Birdtown This Afternoon—Jim Brady to Twirl Opener.

The Crackers open up a three-game series at New Orleans this afternoon, closing their present long road trip, which has been a disastrous one, owing to the failure of the Cracker hurlers to deliver the goods.

But the Pelicans are in a bad slump right now and a clean sweep of the series by the locals would not make the trip such a failure after all.

Jim Brady will probably twirl today's game. Score one for the Crackers.

No Boxing in Colorado.

Denver, Colo., May 15.—Governor Ammons has vetoed the boxing bill, but the bill permitting racing under the supervision of a racing commission will become a law without the governor's signature, he preferring neither to sign nor veto it. Concerning the boxing bill the governor said:

"While I realize that the intention of the authors of this bill was not to bring about that result, yet I fear its effect would be to legalize prize fighting in Colorado. There seems to be nothing in the present law to prevent holding legitimate boxing contests, and I do not think it necessary to amend the provisions of the present law.

FORMWALT WINS FROM EDGEWOOD

First Game in Public School Post-Season Series Goes to the South-Siders by Score of 3 to 0.

By Hal Reynolds.

In a closely played and hard-fought game Formwalt won out over Edgewood yesterday afternoon at Marist by the score of 3 to 0 in the first game for the championship of the public schools.

The game was a pitchers' battle throughout between Smith and Wallace, with Smith hurling a little better game of the two.

Smith made 16 of his opponents fan the air, and while he was touched up for seven hits, he kept them widely scattered, and would have let the opposition down without a run except for errors behind him. He did not walk a single man.

Wallace also pitched a swell game, striking out 12 men and allowing only three hits. His team mates gave him gun-up support, only two errors being made behind him. Morgan secured two safeties out of four trips to the pan.

The two teams will meet again this afternoon at Marist at 4 o'clock.

COTTON CROP POORER THAN IN TEN YEARS

According to reports which have just been received by the state department of agriculture the outlook for cotton in Georgia is the poorest in the last ten years. Complaints have come to Commissioner of Agriculture J. J. Conner from farmers in all parts of the state of a deficiency in the stand of cotton on account of dry weather.

In many sections the condition is regarded as alarming, because the crop has been planted so long that the farmers can scarcely hope for it to come up even with abundant rain now, and there is a deficiency of seed for replanting. Notwithstanding this state of affairs, a report had reached New York that the Georgia department was predicting a bumper cotton crop this year, which, acording to a wire to Commissioner Conner yesterday from the New York Journal of Commerce, had resulted in a depression of several points in the New York market.

The Journal of Commerce asked for a statement as to the truth or falsity of the report, to which Commissioner Conner replied in detail.

The report follows:

Journal of Commerce, New York City: I understand you have a report from this department which indicates a bumper crop for 1913 in Georgia. This is absolutely false.

My reports from inquiries sent out indicate the poorest prospect for a cotton crop in Georgia for the last ten years.

There is not 50 per cent of a stand of cotton in the state, and the soil is too dry all over the state to germinate cotoin seed.

TRACK SURFACE NOT COMPLETED THURSDAY

Seven riders are now here awaiting the finish of the track surface in order to begin training. These riders are Shields, McNeal, Lockner, Lewis, Schwartz, Luther and Richards.

Mr. Prince expected to have the track surface laid yesterday afternoon, but was delayed on account of the heat, the sun beating down on the pine boards threw back a heat that knocked out seven of the carpenters.

But by Saturday afternoon the track will certainly be finished, so that the riders will commence then to work, and will work out that afternoon when a large crowd will be out to watch the boys ride.

Hundreds of people go out each day to see the progress of the track and all wonder how the motorcycle riders will be able to stay on the track with their machines. The track is nearly twice as large as any track that was ever built by Mr. Prince in Atlanta before.

"RABBIT" HAS REACHED HALF CENTURY MARK

Local Speed Merchant the First Southern League Player to Make Fifty Bingles.

Tommy Long, the local speed merchant, made his fiftieth hit of the season yesterday in the game with the Turtles when he cracked out three bingles in four times up.

Long is the first Southern league player to pass the half century mark in hits made this season.

Wally Smith is pressing Long for the batting honors for the local team, as the result of his last few games. His hitting streak was broken finally the last two times up Thursday.

Previous to this, in the last thirteen times at the bat, he had got on base every time being walked twice, being hit by a pitched ball twice and making nine hits.

As near as can be remembered nine straight hits is the Southern league record.

Here are the batting averages of the players, including Thursday's game:

FRANK CHANCE DAY.

Great Plans Are Made for Peerless Leader Saturday.

Chicago, May 15.—President Charles A. Comiskey, of the Chicago White Sox, and a party of friends went on a still hunt tonight for ticket brokers, said to be selling tickets to Saturday's game between the Chicago and New York American League clubs. The day is to be celebrated as Frank Chance day and friends of the former Chicago National league leader had planned to welcome him to the American League park.

At the request of Comiskey, a newspaper man telephoned a ticket broker in a downtown hotel and learned he could get as many as fifty $3 seats before the game. Other prices were quoted down to $3.

Chicago, May 15.—Frank Leroy Chance, erstwhile "peerless leader" of the local National league team, entered Chicago today as an enemy at the head of the New York Americans. Prospects were that "Frank Chance day" next Saturday would see a record crowd at Comiskey park.

A few reporters, in the van of Chance's friends, boarded his train at Elkhart, Ind., and got him out of bed long before the first call for breakfast.

"It's tough to come back here as an enemy instead of a friend, but I don't have to be an enemy more than two hours a day, and that helps," said Chance.

The returned exile declared that he had the making of a pennant-winning club.

"We got away in poor fashion," he continued. "I had only seven pitchers and four of them were not fit. At first I did not understand the players and they did not understand me, but now we are acquainted and will go ahead and win ball games."

Chance said he would play first base himself next Saturday.

PARKER MAKES A PLEA FOR COARSE YARN MILLS

He Tells Senators Southern Mills Are Menaced by the Underwood Rates.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, May 15.—(Special.)—"The manufacture of coarser yarns, which is carried on to a great extent in Georgia and North Carolina, will be considerably interfered with by the Underwood bill," according to a statement by Lewis W. Parker, of Greenville, S. C., filed with the senate finance committee today.

Mr. Parker is one of the leading cotton mill men in the south and was formerly president of the Southern Cotton Manufacturers' association.

He said that the finer yards, and particularly the combed yards made in New England, would find the rates of the tariff bill prohibitory.

"The bill is fatally defective in not making provision for fancy cloths and cloths from combed and colored yarn," continues his statement. "The bill makes no distinction between plain weaves, fancy weaves and colored goods, nor between carded goods and combed goods.

"On the heavier numbers that is yarns, less than twenty of the American mills are not yet on a competitive basis with foreign mills, but are catching up."

Mr. Parker suggests an amendment which would add 2 1-2 points to each of the duties in the yard paragraph. He also outlines amendments to the cloth schedule, but none to the hosiery and knit goods, as he says he has not enough information on which to base these.

The recommendation has been taken under advisement by the subcommittee of the senate finance committee, composed of Senators Johnson, of Maine, chairman; Hoke Smith, of Georgia, and Hughes, of New Jersey.

COLLEGE GIRLS IN PANIC WHEN MEN FIGHT DUEL

J. D. Cheshire, Formerly of Atlanta, and Negro Cook Shoot in Converse Kitchen.

Spartanburg, S. C., May 15.—Two hundred young ladies were thrown into a state of panic and thirty negro waitresses and employees in the kitchen at Converse college were scattered in a moment to the four corners of the campus early today during the breakfast hour at the college, when J. D. Cheshire, of Atlanta, the new steward of the college, and John Mayes, a discharged cook, engaged in a pistol duel in the kitchen. Nine shots were fired during the negagement and seven of them took effect.

In all, Mayes fired four shots, two of which took effect—one in the left hand of Cheshire and the other striking his breast bone and deflecting. Cheshire fired five times, each bullet taking effect in the negro's body—three entering Mayes' left arm above the elbow and shattering the limb; one bullet entering the left shoulder and the remaining one striking the breast and ranging downward. It is the latter ball that may prove fatal.

Cheshire was arrested and gave bond. The negro is in a local hospital, and physicians say his chance for recovery is slight.

Two Watches Vanish With $90 in Money While Cops Picnic

Pickpockets Get Busy on Annual Police Outing—A. S. Aiken Held for Theft of Valuables.

Two watches and $90 in cash was the toll of pickpockets yesterday on the annual police picnic at Warm Springs.

A. S. Aiken, who gives his address as Campbell road, is held at police barracks upon suspicion of being guilty of all three thefts.

Aiken was arrested at Senoia, on the second section of the excursion train, upon a description given to Officers J. E. Hughes and P. H. Gresham, on the first section, by Edward Denham, of 18 Welborn street, loser of the $90. Aiken had been seen by a detective to leave the first section at Senoia, whereupon Officers Hughes and Gresham left the train and went back to Senoia and found their man on the second section.

Aiken is believed by the police also to have stolen two watches from two men who complained to the police on the first section, but whose names the police failed to get. When Aiken saw the officers approaching him he is said to have attempted to hide from them, and is believed to have thrown his loot from the train.

Except for this incident, the pleasure of the picnic was unmarred.

Police in Quandary Over Disposal of Man They Hold On Belief He Is a Lunatic

When Recorder Broyles declined Thursday to hear the case of Marvin Holly, of 103 Powers street, arrested Wednesday night on a charge of lunacy, he was left more than ever a man without a country.

After having been released from the Alabama insane asylum several months ago, young Holly came to Atlanta, apparently sane, but several weeks ago appeared again to have lost his faculties. He had not been a resident of this state long enough to be eligible to the Milledgeville asylum, and cannot obtain transportation from either Georgia or Alabama to enter the Alabama institution again.

In his violence he is said to be guilty of firing a revolver upon the public highway, but on account of his feeble-mindedness cannot be convicted in the recorder's court.

At present he is being held at police station, where he declares he is willing to remain, but the police declare they cannot keep him there indefinitely.

The Associated Charities are willing to bear his expenses back to the Alabama institution, provided the chief of police will take the responsibility of his conduct on the train, but Chief Beavers is said to have declined this responsibility.

The city attorney will probably be called upon for a ruling in the case today as to his disposition.

WOUND KILLS M'NEILL, WIFE IN A COLLAPSE

Jacksonville, Fla., May 15.—H. P. McNeil, well-known business man of this city, and a nephew of United States Judge Emory Speer, of Macon, died tonight from a wound received while in a scuffle with his wife over a revolver yesterday morning near Pablo Beach. In some mysterious manner the weapon was discharged, the bullet striking McNeil just behind the ear. He died without having regained consciousness.

Mrs. McNeil is suffering from a nervous breakdown. The negro chauffeur, alleged to have witnessed the affair, and a negro woman who cooked for the McNeils are held in connection with the shooting.

COUNTY BOARD ACTS ON RETURN TO FEES

Action of Supreme Court Necessitates Dismissal of County Auditor.

The decision of the Georgia supreme court, sent down Wednesday, declaring the recent act of the state legislature putting Fulton county's state officials on a salary basis instead of the long obtaining fee system, unconstitutional; the refusal of a permit to the Atlanta Mausoleum company for a burial place on Cascade avenue, in the northwestern section of the city; the purchase of asphalt for use in construction of county highways, and the selection of an assistant to the public works superintendent, were the principal matters before the special meeting of the county commissioners yesterday, and Commissioners Anderson, Waters, Turman, Smith and Winn were present at Secretary H. M. Wood's roll call.

Officially advised of the decree of the state supreme court touching the fee system, a resolution by Commissioner Shelby Smith recognized a continuance of the system, with the county's state officials until future legislative proceedings finally disposes of the question, after Commissioner Smith's resolution abolished for the present the position of county auditor, heretofore filled by Mr. Richardson with a $250 monthly salary.

Mausoleum Company Denied Petition.

The presentation of the Atlanta Mausoleum company's petition to establish "a burial place, consisting of a concrete building known as a 'mausoleum,' upon a tract of land consisting of twenty acres, located on Cascade avenue," aroused keen interest of the large gathering which had grown listless while the commissioners talked over the salary and fee system. Attorney Alex Smith, representing the Atlanta Mausoleum company, scattered broadly objections of the company's opposition, and was answered by residents and property owners near the proposed resting place for the dead. By a decided majority, the board of county commissioners declined to grant the petition of the Atlanta Mausoleum company.

A resolution providing that all asphalt purchased by the commissioners for use on the public highways shall be through competitive bids was presented by Commissioner Waters and adopted, all bids to conform to a set of specifications presented by the commissioners when bids are received from the sellers.

A. E. Chrisman was elected assistant to the public works superintendent. He will be known as the "binder paving expert." The pay allowed is $3,000 a year, payable monthly, the tenure of office being at the will of the board of county commissioners.

MRS. MINNIE A. HARTZ GETS TOTAL DIVORCE

Macon, Ga., May 15.—(Special.)—Mrs. Minnie A. Hartz was today granted total divorce from her husband, Morris A. Hartz, a member of one of the best known and wealthiest Jewish families in Macon. In addition Mrs. Hartz was awarded the sum of $5,000 as alimony. Mr. Hartz is said to be worth about $50,000.

They were married January 10, 1912, and lived together only two months, during which time Mrs. Hartz underwent a serious operation at the hospital. When she returned home, she alleged, her husband treated her cruelly and forced her to leave his home. This was denied by Mr. Hartz.

Recently a jury in the city court awarded Mrs. Hartz diamonds to the value of $2,000, which her husband claimed he had only loaned her. No appeal will be taken in the case, it being stated that Mr. Hartz had previously offered to pay his wife $2,000 and consent to a divorce decree, but she had held out for a larger sum.

Georgia Medical College Holds Commencement Exercises.

Augusta, Ga., May 15.—(Special.)—Twenty-eight members of the graduating class of 1913 of the Medical College of Georgia received the degree of doctor of medicine from Chancellor David C. Barrow, of the University of Georgia, during the exercises marking the close of the commencement week at the Grand Opera house last night.

As the exercises were begun, a scene seldom witnessed at the closing of the medical college presented itself in the assemblage composed of members of the state legislature, prominent representatives from the Georgia bench and bar, deans of the various institutions of the University of Georgia, other widely-known educators, members of the state medical examining board, widely-known men in public life, in clerical circles and in the business world, forming possible the most cosmopolitan and representative gathering ever witnessing the closing exercises of this old seat of medical learning.

Dr. Ralston Lattimore, president, newly elected, of the State Medical association, was the speaker of the occasion, confining his address to advice to the young doctors as to how best confront the difficulties of life and to attain the success of their ambitions.

The valedictory was delivered by Dr. T. Z. Cason, of Island Grove, Fla., who spoke in unusually eloquent terms of the saddest part of life, the saying "gooby." Dr. Ward Beecher DuVall, of Abbeville, Ga., extended welcome to the assembly in the name of the graduating class.

BATTLE IS REARRESTED FOR SHOOTING BROWN

Moultrie, Ga., May 15.—(Special.)—The condition of P. Brown, who was shot Monday by J. J. Battle, is encouraging, though he is not entirely out of danger. Battle was at liberty under bond until today when he was rearrested by the sheriff under an order issued by Judge Thomas of superior court.

J. H. Cason, the defaulting cashier for Bank of Crosland, has been surrendered by his bondsmen to the sheriff and has been placed in jail to await the action from grand jury for July term. After his arrest he was released on $2,000 bond as he had hopes of being able to make his defalcation good. He failed to do this and his bondsmen surrendered him. His case will be tried at the July term of superior court.

PUT SOUL IN GIVING PLEADS WOMAN ORATOR

Madame Bella Pevsner Makes Eloquent Appeal for True Social Service to Y. M. C. A.

"It is not enough to give bread, when you have cake in the house, or old clothes when you have new," said Madame Bella Pevsner in an eloquent appeal which electrified an enthusiastic audience at the Y. M. C. A. last night when she pleaded for genuine social service under the auspices of the Social Workers of Atlanta.

"The wealthy men who died on the Titanic did the heroic thing; they saved their souls and children. But how many of those same wealthy men attained their fortune at the expense of underpaid men? How many of those wealthy heroes of the Titanic owed their all to the women and children whom they drove in their factories?

"The social worker must give to the world of her soul, the best she has; while the ordinary individual simply adds to his store of wealth.

"The creation of wealth at the expense of the masses keeps the millionaire miserable because of the misery which he causes. Happiness is the result of actions in the wing the higher life, and no Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde was ever happy. The function of the social worker is to bring harmony out of chaos, happiness out of misery, and, above all, to develop character."

Since her arrival in Atlanta a few days ago, Madame Pevsner has attracted a large following by the causes for which she has pleaded, among which are numbered woman suffrage, woman's position in history, and Palestine and the Jewish future. She will speak again at the Jewish Educational alliance on next Sunday evening.

AT THE THEATERS

"Are You a Mason?"

(At the Atlanta.)

Gaining in popularity with every performance, the Miss Billy Long company is playing to packed houses at the Atlanta this week, the bill being that fine farce comedy, "Are You a Mason?" which has 1,000 laughs. Three more performances will be given this week, tonight, Saturday matinee and night. Next week "The Deep Purple," the first of the master crook plays by Paul Armstrong and Wilson Mizner, will be given. Seats are now selling for this week, with this speech was an inspiration to greater effort for the young men who had chosen dentistry for their profession.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

One of the best novelty presentations seen on a local stage is the Apollo Trio, three Italians, who came over from Rome eight months ago to give reproductions of Greek and Roman statues. The men are clothed in coats of bronze paint, and with a stage mounting that is attractive, and with unique lighting arrangements, they would appear as pieces of bronze if they did not betray the fact that they are alive.

Paul Dickey has scored the greatest hit that has been credited to an actor in a vaudeville sketch here.

The bill for next week has been announced and is one of the most promising of the season. It will be made up of comedy features, delightful and original ideas in entertainment: Gillette's Adam and Eve, the smartest monkey actors in the world; Gallergher and Barrett in a farce comedy, and Josephine Dunfee, the sweet singer, are on the bill.

MELVILLE T. FULLER BURIED AT GREENWOOD

Little Melville T. Fuller, 18-months-old infant of City Marshal James M. Fuller, and Atlanta's prize baby at a recent baby show, was buried at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon in Greenwood cemetery.

The child was declared by physicians to be the most beautiful in Atlanta. Several weeks ago, while being dressed for a party given in his honor, little Melville took cold. It developed into pneumonia, and sank rapidly, and the child died Wednesday morning at 4 o'clock at the family residence, 76 Ashby street.

HE POSED AS A LAWYER AND OPERATED AS SEER

Chicago, May 15.—Interesting evidence of the operations of Charles De Alvandros, alleged leader of the clairvoyant ring now under investigation, was presented to the grand jury today.

According to State's Attorney Hoyne, De Alvandros led a dual existence, posing as a lawyer and operating as a seer.

As a lawyer he is alleged to have directed his victim to consult the seer in one of his "parlors." De Alvandros usually handled court matters for members of the ring when they ran afoul of the law. He is at large and the police are searching for five other clairvoyants.

MRS. WOODROW WILSON ON "SLUMMING" TOUR

Washington, May 15.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson went "slumming" late yesterday with a party of local social workers, and visited, "Goat Alley, "Snow Court," "Ragland Alley," and other squalid spots of the capital. Because of the lack of ostentation which attends all Mrs. Wilson's doings, it did not become known until today when members of the party let out the secret. The president's wife entered several tenements and talked with mothers and children who had no idea of the identity of their distinguished guest.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL OF THE MARKETS

COTTON FLUCTUATED WITHIN NARROW RANGE

Little Disposition to Trade as Crop News Was Conflicting—Spot Quiet.

New York, May 15.—With Liverpool closed for the remainder of this week and with crop news more or less conflicting, there seemed little disposition to trade aggressively in the cotton market today and prices fluctuated within a narrow range. The close was steady at a net decline of 1 to 2 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 1 point on January, but generally a point or two above the closing figures of yesterday, in response to relatively steady cables. Trading was not active, but there was some scattered demand from yesterday's sellers, who were probably disappointed that the weather map did not show more rain east of the river, and that the western low barometer was working rather far northward to produce important precipitation in the belt. Prices sold 2 to 3 points net higher on this support, but the official forecasts were for showers over the greater part of the eastern belt, while a rain area was reported to be forming in the southwest, and this prospect for more favorable weather conditions brought in a few selling orders on the advance.

The favorable trade accounts from fine goods manufacturing centers, and somewhat less optimistic reports from abroad, probably helped to relieve the early buying movement, and following the receipt of scattering rain or shower reports the market became a shade easier in the early afternoon.

Closing prices were at practically the lowest point of the day. A prominent traveling crop expert summarizes the start of crop as favorable on the average and estimates that replanting will not be more active this year than in either 1909 or in 1911.

Some rather more favorable reports were also received from scattering sources, but failed to inspire any general selling with the idea around that ring revealing continued nervousness and a feeling in some quarters that good warm rains in the eastern belt may be necessary to relieve apprehensions of an indifferent or possibly unfavorable government condition report on June 2.

Cotton spot closed quiet; middling uplands, 12.00; do, gulf, 12.25; sales, 436 bales.

WHEAT MADE RALLY FROM EARLY DECLINE

Market Closed Steady—Corn a Shade Off to One-Eighth Cent Up.

Chicago, May 16.—Buying by new investors brought about a rally today in wheat. Despite early weakness, the market closed steady at prices ranging from last night's level to ⅛c above. Corn finished a shade off to ⅛c up; oats with a gain of ⅛@⅜, and provisions were dearer by 5@7½ to 20c.

In the opinion of many traders, selling of wheat had been considerably overdone. This judgment was confirmed about midday, when purchasing became somewhat aggressive, and shorts hurried to cover. The bulls were encouraged by milling sales of 150,000 bushels and by sales of 350,000 bushels to eastern export houses. Besides clearances at the seaboard were heavy, arrivals at leading terminals were light, the season in Canada said to be two weeks late and the Pacific coast states distressed by radical deficiency of moisture. Previous to the upturn, quotations had been depressed by statements that Russian crops promised large returns and because of excellent weather and soil conditions east of the Rockies. Bears, however, were unable to force more than slight taking an aggressive position. The primary receipts of wheat today were 545,000 bushels; last year 591,000 bushels. Clearances of wheat and flour equalled 918,000 bushels.

Corn displayed firmness, the result of country holders declining to sell at a reduced basis.

Oats strengthened on reports that rains in Illinois and Indiana did not extend as far south as expected.

Packing interests appeared to have taken to the buying side in provisions. Hog receipts were meager.

TRADERS IN STOCKS STILL HOLDING OFF

Lack of Demand Induced Bears to Sell—Some Signs of Liquidation.

New York, May 15.—On a small volume of business, quotations of stocks were scaled down again today. Nearly a dozen new low records for the year were reached, although none of the active stocks was in the list. The day's news did not affect speculative conditions materially, and traders were disposed to hold off still longer before taking an aggressive position. The obvious lack of demand for stocks induced bear traders to sell, but they attacked the list half-heartedly, and movements were narrow and irregular until the final hour, when the market turned downward more decisively.

While selling appeared to be largely for the short account, there were signs of liquidation in various quarters and some severe losses. The fertilizer group was heavy, Brotox Co., the weakest of these shares, broke over 4 points. Canadian Pacific was again pressed for sale. The thinness of the market was illustrated by the experience of brokers who were called upon to dispose of small blocks of inactive stocks. In some instances it was necessary to make substantial concessions to find a buyer. A case in point was Railway Steel Spring preferred, which broke nearly 7 points on a single sale.

The banking engagement of $2,000,000 more gold for France was announced, bringing up the total for the present movement to $10,000,000. The Bank of France, in its weekly statement, reported an increase in gold in hand to $1,826,000, but only one of the shipments made to France since exportations began remained reached Paris in time to figure in the report. Although the Bank of England reported a loss of over £150,000 gold for the week, the proportion of reserves to liabilities was raised to slightly above 50 per cent, the highest of the year.

Closing sales showed the maintenance of whose dividend rate has been under discussion, turned strong on the announcement of an extra dividend of 4 per cent on Sloss-Sheffield preferred, a controlled line. Chesapeake and Ohio sold off sharply, however, when it was made known that the regular dividend had been declared. The action of the New Haven board on the dividend rate was not taken until after the close of the market, so that it exerted no effect on prices.

Bonds were easier again. Total sales, par value, $1,400,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

BOWIE IS NOMINATED FOR ROME POSTMASTER

He Owes Place to Mrs. Wilson. Five Other Georgia Postmasters Named.

Washington, May 15.—President Wilson today nominated James Park Bowie to be postmaster at Rome.

The nomination was sent to the senate along with five other Georgia postoffices, as follows:

Bowden, Carroll county, Merida L. Moore; Concord, Pike county, Richard E. Lee; Jonesboro, Clayton county, William L. Watterson; Milledgeville, Baldwin county, R. B. Moore; Oglethorpe, Macon county, Pannie T. Elmore.

The nomination of Mr. Bowie, for Rome, is the most important piece of Georgia patronage, thus far disposed of by the president. The office is the largest in the seventh congressional district. Its compensation is $3,100 annually.

Several days ago President Wilson conferred with Congressman Gordon Lee about the Rome office and indicated a desire to nominate for the office Mr. Bowie, who was the warm personal friend of Mrs. Wilson's parents.

The congressman, though he had intended nominating some one else for the postoffice, gracefully yielded his prerogative in the premises.

LaGrange Wants Better Rates.

Hatt in Lovejoy is in Washington to appear before the interstate commerce commission in the case of LaGrange Chamber of Commerce against the Atlanta and West Point railroad and others, involving freight rates from the west to LaGrange.

The case will be heard on Saturday next. Mr. Lovejoy alleges that the present rates are discriminatory in favor of Atlanta and Opelika, Ala., as against LaGrange, which is the largest point between Atlanta and Montgomery, and has better railroad facilities than any adjacent point in western Georgia or eastern Alabama.

Brown Appoints Tweedy.

Colonel Ed T. Brown, of Atlanta, who was one of the Wilson managers in the Georgia presidential primary, is here urging the recognition by the administration of Jake Tweedy, of Eatonton, who was an Underwood delegate from the eighth congressional district to the Baltimore convention. It is believed that he will succeed in landing a desirable place for Tweedy in the government service in Washington.

Mrs. Longstreet still Fighting.

Mrs. Ellen D. Longstreet will appear before the senate committee on postoffices and post roads tomorrow to tell why she should be retained as postmaster at Gainesville. It is unusual to give a hearing to a deposed postmaster, but the committee has made an exception of the Georgia woman. Mrs. H. W. J. Hare's nomination has not yet been confirmed, and Representative Bell declines to have anything to say until the case is finally disposed of in the senate.

Colonel Andrews in Washington.

Colonel Walter P. Andrews, of Atlanta, who arrived today to press his claims for appointment as consul general to Paris, said he was personally advised by Postmaster General Burleson several weeks ago that the department would not accept the nomination of A. S. Hardy for postmaster of Gainesville because of the character of the latter's opposition to Mr. Wilson's candidacy.

REPORTERS OF WOMAN'S EDITION WORKING ON FOUR-YEAR MYSTERY

Will they succeed in getting from the governor the contents of that mysterious Hoke Smith letter which has baffled the male reporters of the various papers for four years? If they don't, the assignment might as well be given up as a hopeless one.

The above photograph taken yesterday represents Mrs. Robert L. Foreman, Mrs. Louise Bigby Marsh and Mrs. Maud Barker Cobb, the ladies who have the capitol assignment for The Constitution's woman's edition, in an earnest interview with "Little Joe" Brown.

Doubtless they will succeed in getting some news out of him that will set the politicians to talking for months to come. We will see.

KISER BUILDING ATLANTA

ATLANTA, 32D CITY IN SIZE,
HAS THE LARGEST AND FINEST
BARBER SHOP IN THE WORLD

Herndon's Remodeled Shop, at 66 Peachtree Street, a Revelation in Completeness of Equipment, Sanitation and Convenience for Patrons—Everything Sparkling White From Floors to Ceilings.

The slogan of this city—Atlanta, Always Ahead—has never been better lived up to than in the remodeling and renovating of Herndon's Barber Shop, at 66 Peachtree street. Blase New Yorkers may well envy the progressive spirit responsible for the creation of a barber shop more spacious, more elegantly and completely equipped than any within its limits.

A. F. Herndon visited the largest and best barber shops from here to San Francisco and inspected them in detail before beginning work at 66 Peachtree street. When he returned he had a mental picture of a bigger, brighter and better shop than Atlanta has ever dreamed of. A spotless shop equipped to the smallest detail where the most particular could rest in utmost comfort and be served by deft and cheerful men with years of experience in their profession.

The place is a veritable spotless town. White tiled floors, mirrored walls and white ceilings. Spacious chairs of metal and marble upholstered with expensive leather. Marble shelves and sanitary basins. Crystal chandeliers and artistic wall lamps. Nothing has been overlooked. No time or money has been spared in making Herndon's new shop at 66 Peachtree street the finest in the world.

This would be enough for some, but Herndon goes further. Beneath the shop are many baths. White prevails here as above. Everything is kept immaculately clean and inviting, and it is safe to predict that Herndon will not only enjoy a wonderful success but that the name and fame of his shop will be carried to the farthest most points of the country by the many strangers visiting Atlanta, the city that is always ahead.

CRIES OF "NO, NO," FROM THE BAPTISTS

Ark.; J. M. Frost, Nashville, Tenn.; B. J. Riley, Birmingham, Ala.; C. W. McDaniel, Richmond, Va., and J. J. Bennett, Atlanta.

The convention voted a special order of business to give Rev. Sutton Earl Griggs, of Memphis, an opportunity to speak. In his address he said:

"God snatched the warm-hearted black people from darkest Africa and set them down among the best regulated portion of the white race on the globe today, the white people of the southern states, that they might learn the true religion of Christ and take it into the places where the white man finds it impossible to go. I believe the negroes of the south will be the greatest influence yet in the evangelization of all Africa."

Intervention Wanted in Mexico.

"Armed intervention by the United States is the only thing, in my judgment, that will restore peace in Mexico," said Missionary R. P. Mamon, of Morelia, state of Michoacan, Mexico, in an address before the Southern Baptist convention today.

"I am unable to return to my work in Mexico for two months on account of revolutions and revolutions against revolutionists. The country, in absolute chaos, is without hope of getting together if led by any of its own people.

"A governor of a prominent state told me he hoped missionaries would establish a school in every village in his dominion, as he believed only a system of education like that of the United States would redeem Mexico."

"In the light of these facts, the only hope I can see for Mexico is armed intervention by this country," continued Mr. Mahon. "More than 90 per cent of Mexico's population never has learned to read or write any language. More than 75 per cent of Mexican men are unfaithful to their families."

J. W. Lowe and A. Y. Napier, missionaries from China, said the new Chinese government welcomed the missionary schools.

Secretary Lansing Burrows said Missouri, by 10,000 and Oklahoma by 5,000, had decreased in the number of members during the year. Membership increase in Georgia was 9,000; in North Carolina 6,000 and in Tennessee 10,000.

Tithing System Favored.

The laymen's movement was given a prominent place in the discussions, most of the addresses being in favor of lay church members paying a tithe, or 10 per cent of their income. Henderson of Bristol, Va., secretary of the Laymen's association, said the tithing system was the only one that successfully would solve the question of evangelization of the world. He outlined a plan which was adopted, providing for laymen's state rallies in all southern states during February, March and April of next year.

The Woman's Missionary union will elect officers tomorrow and it is understood the officers now serving will be re-elected.

Atlanta Booklet Won Convention of the Shriners

BY FRED HOUSER.

The booklet issued by the Atlanta Convention bureau did the work. When a representative from Buffalo suggested that neither Memphis nor Atlanta had the necessary hotel facilities, this was answered by the splendid showing of Atlanta as evidenced in these booklets, and, it is declared, the enterprise of the Atlanta bureau captured the prize.—From Constitution, May 15.

We planned, designed and printed this booklet for the Atlanta Convention bureau, also the booklet gotten out by Potentate Adair, which was mailed to the delegates to the Shrine convention. Our business is to co-operate with you by combining your ideas with ours in the production of advertising literature with the "pull."
